Watchful But Won't Call Troops U.S. Is Charged With Provocations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government warned the United States today that an attack on Cuba would be the beginning of a war that might turn into a world nuclear war. In a statement read to a special Foreign Office news conference, the Soviet government accused the United States of staging provocations "which might plunge the world into the disaster of a universal world war with the use of thermonuclear weapons." "One cannot now attack Cuba and expect that the aggressor will be free from punishment for this attack," the statement continued. "If such an attack is made, this will be the beginning of unleashing war."

The statement appealed to the United States "to display common sense, not to lose its self-control and soberly to assess what its actions might lead to if it unleashes war." It said the Soviets would not follow the path of the United States in calling up 150,000 reservists.

But the Soviet government, it continued, "considers it to be its duty to remain watchful in this situation and order the Defense Ministry as well as the command of the Soviet army to take all measures to put out fighting forces into the highest degree of fighting readiness."

"This is exclusively a precautionary measure. On our side we shall do everything not to violate peace."

In bid to Others
The statement added an appeal to all nations to raise their voices against the alleged aggressive plans of the United States and to prevent the "American aggressors" from starting a war.

The statement declared that the Soviet Union is sending military supplies and military technicians to Cuba but is not establishing a base there.

"We state and we repeat," the statement said, "that if war is unleashed, if an aggressor attacks one or another state, and this state turns to us for help, then the Soviet Union has the possibility of giving aid from its own territory, to any peace loving state, and not only to Cuba."

"And let no one doubt that the Soviet Union will give such aid."

In the statement, the Soviet government also declared it wants a settlement of the Berlin question and a liquidation of the occupation regime in the divided city.

"The occupation regime must be liquidated, and it shall be liquidated," the statement said.

Moscow Warning Viewed More as Castro Bolster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest Soviet nuclear war warning today reads more like a statement to bolster the morale of the Fidel Castro government in Cuba than to intimidate the United States.

Whatever view Moscow and Washington may take, Castro and his followers may be seriously worried about the possibility of some new, strongly supported invasion attempt now that they are openly taking Soviet military assistance.

Interest Is Strong on State Part Vehicular Access Won't Stop Span

Direct vehicular access to up-town Kingston via a temporary emergency exit off the Albany Avenue-Thruway Arterial was sought late yesterday afternoon by Mayor John J. Schwenk and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson. The two officials journeyed to Albany to attend a special meeting arranged by the assemblyman with chief engineer Robert W. Sweet of the State Department of Public Works.

In a joint announcement released early this morning, they revealed that they have made a specific request for an emergency exit from the Albany Avenue-Thruway Arterial approximately 250 feet west of the bridge over Esopus Creek to connect with Fair Street Extension in uptown Kingston.

Conforms With Plan

The plan, conceived by Mayor Schwenk on August 31, also calls for immediate steps towards construction of a North Front Street By-Pass to connect with Washington Avenue at Hurley Avenue under the City's uptown urban renewal project. The North Front Street By-Pass, the mayor noted, conforms with the City's "master plan," and can be financed as a reimbursable expense under the uptown urban renewal project.

Assemblyman Wilson, who is throwing his full support behind the plan, said that he has prevailed upon the State DPW to consider seriously the construction of the temporary emergency exit and road connection to Fair Street Extension.

Both the Kingston mayor and Ulster County assemblyman reported that the plan was met with strong interest by the chief engineer and his staff, who had indicated at a previous meeting on August 31, that the State DPW would take action to ease traffic congestion at the Albany Avenue end of the Thruway Arterial.

Assemblyman Wilson said that the state's reception of the proposal was encouraging, and that the DPW has already begun to investigate the cost aspects, and the available manpower and material resources necessary to put the plan into execution.

City Must Agree

However, Wilson added, if the state should decide to undertake this emergency project, the city will have to agree to the following conditions:

1. The emergency exit off the Thruway Arterial is to be

Cases Run Gamut For Troopers at Highland Station

Highland State Police had a busy day of investigations Monday, running the gamut from rape, illegal possession of a firearm through other Penal Law violations and down to vagrancy and hitch-hiking.

In cooperation with Garfield, N. J., and Poughkeepsie police, a Saddle Brook, N. J., man was arrested and charged with second degree rape involving a 15-year-old girl. The girl was reported missing from New Jersey and was reported to be in the Poughkeepsie-Highland area. On information that the girl had run away from home, an investigation was undertaken.

Elmer Charles Palmateer, 24, of Saddle Brook, N. J., was arrested on information. It was alleged they had been staying in Poughkeepsie prior to stopping at Highland where the arrest was made.

In another investigation Nathan Oddie Owen, 26, a migrant worker in the Marlboro area was arrested on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm. In cooperation with the Marlboro police department, Owen was picked up on a charge of possession of a .22 calibre revolver. His home is in Barto, Fla. Taken before Justice of the Peace Philip Schunk of Town of Lloyd, Owen was held for grand jury action and committed to jail.

Other matters including arrest of New York residents who were hitch-hiking to Florida and a series of vehicle and traffic violations.

Soblen Cheats U.S. Prison Last Time

LONDON (AP) — Fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen died in a London hospital today and escaped the life sentence that awaited him in a U.S. federal prison for wartime espionage for the Soviet Union.

Soblen, died in Hillingdon Hospital, where he had lain unconscious since last Thursday. He had taken an overdose of barbiturates just before he was removed from Brixton Prison for deportation to the United States.

Drugs Not Cause

Dr. Cyril Barnes, who was in charge of Soblen's treatment, told newsmen Soblen's death was due not to the drugs he had taken but rather to "exhaustion following convulsions and damage to the brain, presumably caused by hemorrhage."

Barnes explained that Soblen had taken a quick-acting barbiturate and "it had been eliminated from the body chemically 24 hours before death."

Barnes said Soblen's wife, Dr. Dina Soblen, a psychiatrist like her husband, was at his bedside when he died. She flew to London and had been at the hospital with him since Friday.

Wife Under Treatment

"Just before 10 a.m. there was a severe turn for the worse," Barnes said. "Death did not occur suddenly, but came as his strength gradually failed."

Later, Soblen's wife was admitted to the hospital as a patient. A spokesman said she was being treated for shock.

The death of the 61-year-old New York psychiatrist ended a 10-week battle to escape deportation to the United States, where he faced a life sentence as a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

Never Out of Coma

Soblen took an overdose of barbiturates apparently just before he was put in an ambulance last Thursday to be taken to a plane for the United States.

En route to London Airport he lapsed into unconsciousness in the ambulance. At the airport he was transferred to another ambulance and rushed to nearby Hillingdon Hospital.

He never regained consciousness, and on Saturday he developed convulsions which persisted. His doctors said this was evidence of brain damage, apparently resulting from a shortage of oxygen. The doctors explained the overdose of barbiturates reduced the supply of oxygen to the brain and probably caused a brain hemorrhage.

Soblen was a physician afflicted with an incurable disease; a naturalized American convicted of biting the hand that gave him shelter; a Communist who admitted support of the left wing in politics throughout World War II. He denied vehemently that he ever engaged in espionage, "or anything remotely connected with it."

U.S. Solons Just Pirates: Castro

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro today called members of the U.S. Congress bandits and pirates and said they have turned Cuba into an election eve political football.

"Their irresponsibility has converted the problem of Cuba into an instrument of internal politics of the United States," he declared in an early morning television address.

He quoted congressmen as referring to Cuba as a peril 90 miles from the shores of the United States. He asked if his nation has not the same right to brand the United States a peril at an equal distance.

Recover 33 of 44 Bodies After Jet Tanker Crashes

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—All 44 persons aboard a Strategic Air Command jet tanker plane apparently were killed when the KC135 plowed into a fog-shrouded ravine on a 5,271-foot Mt. Kit Carson about 20 miles northeast of here Monday.

Thirty-three bodies had been recovered when nightfall halted the search of the 500-yard deep ravine.

"It's the worst sight I've ever seen," said a highway patrolman. Aboard the plane were 39 Air Force men, all members of the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D.; one civilian and four crewmen.

The tanker, based at Ellsworth, was carrying the airmen to Fairchild Air Force Base near here, where they were to stay while Ellsworth runways were repaired. The jet was only 10 minutes from its destination when it crashed.

Col. Floyd R. Cressman of Fairchild, one of the first to view the wreckage, said the pilot apparently tried to pull up the tanker at the last minute. Visibility was near zero at the time.

Two volunteer searchers and a son of one of them found the wreckage, guided by the smell of smoke.

Smith, Irving Hamann and his son, Wayne, all from Spokane, started searching after they had heard a report the plane was missing and apparently down in the Mt. Spokane-Mt. Kit Carson area.

"We decided to work our way down the steep slope," said Smith. "And as we did, the smell of smoke got stronger."

"Finally, we came across the first of the wreckage. It was smashed to pieces. Then we saw three bodies on the ground—all badly burned."

Smith and Hamann went to the nearby ranch of Barbara Rainwater and telephoned officers.

"I'm glad we didn't look any farther than we did," Smith said. "I couldn't have looked any more."

A tandem tire, lodged against a pine tree, was the biggest piece of the plane intact.

Salesman Sought In Slashing Death Of Mother of 4

WINDSOR, N.Y. (AP) — "No one had a reason to do this to her," said Frank Munson, whose 41-year-old wife and mother of his four children was found brutally slain in their isolated home near this Broome County village.

Police sought today a baby-clothing salesman, who was seen in the area.

"She was the most wonderful woman in the world," Munson said.

The body of Mrs. Iva Munson, beaten, slashed and nearly nude, was found Monday afternoon when Munson, 62, and his three teen-aged daughters returned to the house on a remote, wooded hill. Munson had been shopping and had picked up the girls after school.

Test Shots To Follow Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has cleared the way for the resumption of atmospheric nuclear test explosions over the Pacific.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday night the tests probably will resume later this month or early in October. He indicated, however, that there probably would be no detonation until after Sept. 28, the date set for the six-orbit flight of astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Halted After July 31

A joint announcement by the AEC and the Defense Department said the off-limits safety zone around and above Johnston Island in the Pacific would be reactivated Sept. 22 "in connection with the completion of the Pacific test series."

Test shots from the island were discontinued July 31 after a Thor missile bearing a nuclear warhead for high-altitude detonation was destroyed on the launch pad July 25. The AEC spokesman said the badly damaged launch area would be repaired by late this month.

The statement did not say how many tests will be conducted but said they "will include a few high-altitude events and a few in which the devices will be dropped from an airplane."

JFK Sees 3 More Tests

President Kennedy said at his news conference after the July 25 failure that there might be three more tests over the Pacific.

The Soviet Union broke a three-year moratorium on atmospheric nuclear tests in September 1961. The United States resumed atmospheric tests last April 25. The Soviet Union began a second round

Pirate Ship Hits British, Cuban Vessels Is Report

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio said today a Cuban freighter and a British cargo ship have been attacked by what the broadcast labeled a pirate ship. "No mention was made of casualties or the extent of damage."

The broadcast, monitored in Key West, said the ships were fired on off the northern coast of Cuba, but did not specify the time.

The Cuban vessel, identified as the San Pascual, was hit 18 times and eight shots whistled through the crew's cabin, the radio said. The British ship, the name of which sounded like "New Land," took 13 hits, the Havana account said.

The British vessel may have been the Trafalgar Steamship Co. sugar cargo freighter Newlane. In London, Trafalgar said the Newlane left Havana Monday night under charter. The company said it did not know the 7,043-ton ship's destination because the charter had been arranged by its agents for the Caribbean area.

Havana radio said the Cuban vessel was carrying a load of molasses, the British freighter a load of sugar for Socialist countries.

Calling the alleged incident "a cowardly attack against the Cuban government," the broadcast said a second British ship—with a name which sounded like "Apple Sultan"—escaped the attack because it was delayed in reaching the area.

The radio did not elaborate on its designation of the alleged attacker as a pirate ship.

The report came in the wake of an offshore shelling of Havana Aug. 24 by anti-Castro Cubans. The youth who led the Aug. 24 attack said last week that ships with Communist flags would be considered military targets. Juan Manuel Salvat, the attack leader, made that statement to newsmen in Caracas, Venezuela.

Kennedy in Alabama on First Stop of Space Facility Tour

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — President Kennedy landed at the Redstone Arsenal Airfield at 9:32 a.m. (CST) today on the first stop of a whirlwind tour of several space facilities.

Kennedy's four-state tour is billed by the White House as a non-political business trip. The White House says it will enable him to examine work on space programs and provide background for consideration of next year's space budget.

The President's interest in U.S. booster capabilities was underscored by the first stop on his schedule — Huntsville, Ala. He planned to visit Cape Canaveral, Fla., later in the day.

At Huntsville, where the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration operate space development projects, Kennedy will view Saturn and Titan rockets.

Saturn is currently the U.S. hope for shooting a man to the moon before 1970. Titan is the booster for the planned Gemini project to loft two men into space and orbit them for as long as two weeks at a time.

At Huntsville, Kennedy's party will be briefed by Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the NASA space flight center. From a vantage point some 2,500 feet away, they will observe from a concrete blockhouse a ground test of a Saturn's engines.

Department withheld immediate comment on the Soviet blast. But in the circumstances, some such statement as that which the Moscow government issued today would be welcomed in Havana. It might very well have been asked by Havana because of recent anti-Castro developments in Washington.

This is not the first time that such a device has been used by the Soviet Union. In the closing months of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration Premier Khrushchev personally threatened on more than one occasion to use Soviet rockets against the United States if this country committed aggression against Cuba.

What may be significant about it now, however, is that it seems to mark a further decline in the American-Soviet relationship already heavily strained by such events as the unsuccessful efforts to find a settlement for the Soviet-Western dispute over Berlin.

One hint that Khrushchev intends to keep the new round of angry argument within bounds, however, came in reference to Berlin.

The statement, referring to the forthcoming U.S. congressional elections, said the Soviet government is willing to take the U.S. political situation into account in considering its own Berlin policies.

The statement noted that there had been a pause recently in U.S.-Soviet exploratory talks on Berlin—which was a softly worded way to describe an almost total breakdown in the exchanges.

mommy," Munson said his daughter Dorothy, 14, cried, running to him after opening the door of the house.

"I dropped the package I was bringing mommy from the store and ran into the house," Munson said, "and there she was—all torn to pieces with a knife."

He later told a friend, "My wife's been murdered."

The body was just inside the door. Dist. Atty. Stephen Smyk, who called the death an apparent homicide, said Mrs. Munson had bruises on her face, and her abdomen had been slashed.

Long Questioning
She was clad only in a blouse, he said, and that was pulled up around her shoulders.

Members of the family were questioned intensively for several hours Monday night by Broome County sheriff's deputies and representatives of the district attorney's office.

Investigators also sought information on a man, nearly bald and in his early 30s, who described himself as a baby-clothing salesman. Smyk said the man earlier Monday had annoyed a young mother at her home in the same general area.

states come to an end today as voters make their choice in primary elections.

The biggest primary day of the year will see candidates nominated for 39 House seats, eight Senate seats and six governorships in New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Arizona and Colorado.

Georgia Democrats Wednesday ballot for governor, senator and 10 House members.

Widow In Field

Most of the attention has been focused on New Hampshire, where four candidates have been seeking the GOP nomination for the remaining four years of the late Sen. Styles Bridges' term.

The candidates: Sen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr., conservative former state attorney general who was appointed to this session by Gov. Wesley Powell.

Dolores Bridges, the late senator's widow, who has campaigned strongly on a conservative platform featuring opposition to the U.N. bond issue and trade program proposed by President Kennedy.

Rep. Perkins Bass, a self-styled moderate who has supported the President on foreign trade and foreign affairs.

Rep. Chester E. Merrow, a liberal Republican running with the backing of organized labor.

Political observers say Bass and Mrs. Bridges seem to be the front-runners in the normally Republican state.

New Hampshire Republicans will also pass judgment on Powell's bid for a third term. His hard-hitting challenger is State Rep. John Pillsbury.

Other Hot Battles

There are hot Republican battles in Utah, Arizona, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In Utah, J. Bracken Lee, the two-time former governor, is rated an underdog to Sen. Wallace Bennett, who never has lost an election and is bidding for a third term in the Senate. But Lee, who once read himself out of the Republican party to make an unsuccessful try for governor as an independent, has pulled political upsets before. Both are conservatives.

In Arizona, Stephen Shadegg, former Democrat and later state Republican chairman and campaign manager for Sen. Barry Goldwater has waged a stiff fight with state Sen. Evan Mecham. Both are conservatives. Goldwater has said he will back either man in November against the likely Democratic nominee, Sen. Carl Hayden.

Hayden Is Opposed

Hayden, 50 years in Congress, is opposed in his bid for a seventh Senate term by W. Lee McLane, Phoenix attorney.

In Wisconsin three Republicans seek the right to oppose State Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, who has no primary foe for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The GOP candidates are Philip G. Kuehn, Wilbur N. Renk and Robert La Follette Sucher, a grandson of the state's late senator and governor, Robert La Follette Sr.

Gov. Cloyd Nelson of Wisconsin is unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination to meet Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, also unopposed.

In Minnesota, Rep. H. Carl Andersen, in Congress for 24 years, is battling for his political life against State Rep. Robert Odegard in the 6th District Republican primary. Odegard picked up party organization support when it was disclosed that Andersen had sold Billie Sol Estes, the Pecos, Tex., financier, some mining stock.

TWO INJURED, ONE ARRESTED—The drivers were reportedly injured when these two vehicles collided Monday about 4:30 p. m. on Smith Avenue at the intersection of Cornell Street. Dorothy P. Palen, 59, of 160 Lammpan Avenue, Port Ewen, suffered abrasions and bruises and Roger G. Robinson, Route 44, Pleasant Valley, was injured about the left shoulder according to police reports. Robinson was issued a summons charging him with passing a stop sign and is slated to appear in City Court Friday.

Soblen Cheats

data to Soviet agents over a span of two decades, including wartime information from the New York headquarters of the Office of Strategic Services. He was sentenced to life in prison, though the penalty might have been death.

American appeals judges and the U.S. Supreme Court considered the proof ironclad. Soblen was denied a new trial and the Supreme Court refused to review his case.

That was the background of Soblen's flight last June 25 to Israel where, as a Jew, he vainly claimed the right to a haven under the Israeli Law of Return.

Israel arrested him on suspicion of entering with false documents—the Canadian passport of a dead brother—and expelled him.

Joined Party in 1919

Soblen was born Nov. 7, 1900, into the numerous and wealthy Soblenovitch family of Lithuania, a little Baltic state which was then a part of czarist Russia but had 22 years of freedom between world wars.

Soblen and his younger brother, Jack, joined the Communist party in 1919 while at school in Germany. The trial court was told that Soblen was so intense a party member that he went to Moscow in 1925 and became a Soviet citizen.

When the Soviet Union took over Lithuania at the beginning of World War II the Soblenovitch family lost all its properties. Soviet authorities permitted the family to emigrate to America.

Some 15 family members, including Jack and Robert, landed in the United States Oct. 20, 1941. They spread out to New York, Boston and Montreal.

Robert assumed the name Soblen. Jack used Soble. A third brother, Beras, continued using the family name until his death in Canada.

Soblen and his brother Jack were naturalized in 1947. Ten years later, Jack was arrested as the head of a Soviet spy ring, quickly pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years in a federal prison.

History of Mental Illness

With a history of mental illness that included swallowing of nuts and bolts in a suicide attempt, Jack was a star witness for the U.S. government at the four-week trial of his brother in 1961.

Blood disease lymphatic leukemia, Soblen heard Jack testify the family was permitted to leave Lithuania under an arrangement with Lavrenti Beria, then chief of the Soviet secret police, that Jack and Robert would engage in espionage activities in the United States.

In sentencing Soblen Aug. 7, 1961, to life, U. S. Dist. Judge William B. Herlands said he was a potential mass murderer and a spy "no matter what his health may be." Soblen collapsed.

He was freed on $100,000 bail pending appeals.

Mrs. Soblen pledged her life savings and her pension to raise $40,000, and two wealthy New Yorkers loaned her the remaining $60,000, saying they wanted to further civil liberties.

Soblen jumped the bail to flee to Israel via an Air France airliner after the U.S. Supreme Court turned down his appeal for a review.

ROBERT A. SOBLEN

He was arrested in Tel Aviv June 28. Expelled aboard a New York-bound Israeli El Al airliner July 1, Soblen slashed a wrist and his abdomen with a steak knife from his dinner tray to win a landing in London.

10-Week Legal Battle

There, with the help of defense attorneys paid by British government funds, he staged a 10-week legal battle to avoid return to the United States. Turned down by British courts, he appealed vainly to Home Secretary Henry Brooke to cancel a deportation order.

The Home Office has started an investigation to determine how Soblen got the pills. Apparently they were smuggled to him at Brixton Prison, where he was held for most of his 10-week stay in Britain. Prison officials said they were of a type that was not stocked at the prison.

May Free Invaders

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says he believes the Castro government of Cuba may be persuaded to free the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners for humanitarian reasons.

Donovan, who represents the Cuban Families Committee for the Liberation of Prisoners of War, suggests the Cuban government might free the 1,100-odd prisoners in view of Cuba's compelling need for such necessities as "food and medicines for Cuban infants, children, the sick and the aged."

He says his organization could provide these items.

Rocky Hopeful of Foe

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller, a shoo-in for renomination at the Republican state convention next week, says of the Democratic contest over its nominee to oppose him in November:

"I'm just hoping that they select one before we go to the polls."

The governor smiled as he made the comment Monday in an interview on the four-way fight for the Democratic nomination at that party's convention, also next week.

Morgy Lashes Out At Rocky's Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert M. Morgenthau says Gov. Rockefeller is able to see only international, national and local problems and pays no attention to state affairs.

Morgenthau, considered to be the leading contender for the Democratic nomination to run against Rockefeller in November, assailed the Republican governor's record at a Reform Democratic meeting Monday night.

Hear Other Hopes

The meeting also was addressed by the three other men campaigning for the gubernatorial nomination—Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor of Queens, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and Canandaigua Industrialist Howard J. Samuels.

Morgenthau, former U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, charged Rockefeller's administration with "extreme derelictions" in state aid to education, in aid to the unemployed, and in efforts to retain and attract new industries to the state.

Morgenthau claimed a personal record of good administration and opposition to discrimination, and said he would run on that record if nominated. If elected, he said, he would make reduction of unemployment and institution of fiscal reforms his main objectives.

O'Connor denounced as "politics at its worst" what he called attempts to "stampede" delegates to the support of "a particular candidate." Without naming Morgenthau, he derided alleged efforts to use patronage to this end.

O'Connor described the alleged tactics as an example of "bosses attempting to whip delegates into line." He called anew for an "open convention."

Stratton told the meeting he wants to run for governor in order to make New York, "the Empire State in fact as well as in name." He attacked the present administration in Albany for allegedly allowing the state to "slip badly."

Samuels also attacked the Rockefeller record. He went on to rebuke his own party for failure to "do what it stands for" while standing for progressive action.

A large majority of Manhattan's 118 delegates to the convention were reported Monday to have refused to be committed to any candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

District leaders were said to have told county leader Edward N. Costikyan that most of the Manhattan delegates they had canvassed either were unwilling to state a preference at this time or wanted to go uncommitted to the convention.

Schirra Now Due For 28th Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.'s intended six-orbit flight around the globe has been delayed three days until Sept. 28 to permit further time for preparation.

Continues Training

The decision came Monday after Project Mercury officials evaluated the readiness of all aspects. It was reported unofficially that the primary Pacific tracking ship, the Rose Knot, was not ready.

The Atlas booster rocket and Schirra's spacecraft were reported in excellent condition. They were joined together on pad No. 14 Monday and extensive compatibility checks were begun.

Schirra continued training here for the flight, which is to keep him aloft for nine hours, twice the flight time of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

In Washington, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that a press headquarters for the Schirra flight will be set up at the Cape Colony Inn at Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Controversy Possible

This may create a controversy because the Cape Colony is the million-dollar hotel in which the seven astronauts invested part of the reported $500,000 Life magazine paid them for rights to their personal stories.

In May, a NASA spokesman said it was unlikely that any motel in which persons connected with NASA had a large interest would be used as a Project Mercury press center. Operators of other motels in the area have said this would amount to government competition.

The motel designated as press center is assured of selling out its accommodations.

Noticed Children

Robinson reportedly told police that while going east on Cornell Street he noticed a group of children on the sidewalk and became concerned about them. Before he realized it, he was past a stop sign and had collided with the Palen vehicle.

He was charged with passing a stop sign and slated to appear in City Court before Judge Joseph D. Saccomani Friday.

The injured woman was taken to Kingston Hospital according to reports which also said that Robinson would consult his personal physician.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolmen Kenneth Radcliff and Edward Orthlieb.

Monday at 6:50 p. m. Frank C. Kallop, 77, of 59 Green Street was issued a summons to appear in City Court this morning on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident as the result of a traffic mishap on Green Street at the intersection of Pearl Street, according to police reports.

Police reports say that the Kallop vehicle struck a route sign and a tree in front of 126 Pearl Street and a car parked at the curb in front of 55 Green Street. The parked car was reportedly owned by Pauline H. Smith of 55 Green Street.

Kallop appeared in City Court this morning and his case was adjourned until Sept. 25.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolman Louis Sapp.

Single Product Of This Village Is Education

By JUNE NORDAHL

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Mrs. Welthy Fisher, 81, is interested in education; but the usual PTA-type problems are not for her.

As president of World Education Inc., Mrs. Fisher has no time to worry about pupil smoking rooms, expanded school bus schedules or Spanish rice vs. Salisbury steak on the cafeteria menu.

Her self-imposed task is simple yet mammoth: teaching people to decipher their own language when they see it on paper.

She and World Education are fighting illiteracy today in India, a land where only two persons in 10 can read. Base camp for the assault on ignorance is located in Lucknow, central India, and is given the name Literacy Village.

About two dozen teachers instruct about 700 persons each year in reading and writing English or Hindi, the common languages in that part of the world.

"Our emphasis is on training women," said Mrs. Fisher.

"When you educate a man, you educate a person. When you educate a woman, you educate a family."

In this way, the benefits of Literacy Village expand from the focal point—a 10-acre plot of land, spotted with simple brick classrooms and dormitories.

The project, which could be called a private Peace Corps, is supported by individuals and foundations and the Indian government, which pays about a third of the costs.

Mrs. Fisher first saw the need for education abroad when she worked as headmistress of a girls' school in China. That was in the 1920s.

"I used to spend countless hours massaging the misshapen bound feet of my students," she related.

"But it was the mothers of the girls who objected most to ending this deforming practice. They were afraid that their daughters would not be able to find husbands."

After her marriage to the Methodist bishop of India and Burma, the Rev. Frederick Fisher, she applied herself toward educating Indian natives. Literacy Village was the outcome.

Mrs. Fisher hopes to set up liaison with the Peace Corps—to augment the already energetic program at Literacy Village.

One of the chief educational tools at the campus is puppets.

"Sometimes puppets can say much more than human beings can," said Mrs. Fisher.

The puppets have been put to work, for example, in educating the villagers on the importance of immunization against disease. Full of wisecracks—but with serious undertones—the puppets act out a rough-and-tumble tableau:

"What's the whole idea about this inoculation?"
Another exclaims, "We don't have any epidemic here!"
After much dialogue they end up jabbing each other with needles. The result is a big turn-out for the inoculation campaigns.

"... And a shot in the arm for progress in a distant part of the world."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 11, 1962

THE TREND TO BIGNESS

One hears much these days about "bigness." The word is usually used in reference to the federal government, which since World War II has grown not only in size but in its influence and control over so many areas of ordinary life.

The government, however, is but one example of bigness in America, and it would seem to be an inevitable development in a society marked by expanding population, mass-producing and mass-consuming, industrialization and rapid technological change.

There are other things in America that are big and growing bigger. Whether it is for good or ill is many times a matter of opinion and final verdicts may be something only as-yet-unborn historians will be able to render.

For instance, new Census Bureau tabulations from the 1960 census for New York City show that the small, independent, neighborhood shopkeeper is the vanishing American of today.

In 1950, there were almost 154,000 retail trade managers and proprietors in the New York metropolitan area. In 1960, the number had dwindled to about 66,500.

The decrease was not confined just to shop owners. In businesses of all types, managers, officials and proprietors declined 7.9 per cent during the decade—from 618,789 in 1950 to 569,500 in 1960.

The same story has been repeated in every American city, large or small. The answer is as obvious as the surveyors and bulldozers and construction workers building the new shopping center down the street.

The family butcher shop is now one of many departments in a large supermarket, which itself is probably one of hundreds in a chain across the nation. The independent haberdasher or novelties dealer is now part of a chain of retail stores run by clerks under the supervision of regional managers.

There were nationwide chain stores years ago, of course, and there are independent retailers today, even in the new shopping centers. Any lamenting over the passing of the small vendor is an essay in unrealistic nostalgia, for there is always room for excellence and initiative.

Figures from the Small Business Administration continually bear this out: In the great majority of cases, the failure of a business is due to poor management.

This is not to say there have been no instances where a big chain has squeezed out an independent store. The launching of a business venture today, or the preserving of an old one, can be a risky venture. And for the consumer, the rule of caveat emptor—let the buyer beware—has not been abolished.

In the final analysis, however, say marketing experts, it is the consumer who has been the prime factor in this move to bigness in the marketplace. It is he who demands the convenience of centralized shopping, self-service, large stocks, charge accounts, credit terms, the price advantages of mass retailing and all the rest.

If this is so, the census figures, such as those for New York, merely represent the people's choice.

The administration may not be anti-business, but judging by recent events business seems anti-administration.

POPULAR TAX MOVES

The Senate has voted a tax benefit for elderly persons who sell their homes to get cash for retirement. At the same time Treasury Secretary Dillon has decided against asking Congress to prohibit or limit tax deductions for interest payments.

The Senate's action and Douglas' announcement are sure of favorable public response. Elderly persons who sell their homes for money to finance retirement should not have 25 per cent of the profit subject to a capital gains tax. In many cases a home represents a person's major asset, the fruit of years of saving.

The proposal to deny or reduce deductions for interest turned out to be too hot a

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE 1962 CAMPAIGN

The Founding Fathers gave the people the opportunity to declare themselves on government policies and personnel every second year. Although a Presidential term is four years, and may be repeated for a second period of four years, he comes before the people every second year for judgement. The 1962 campaign concerns not only Senators, Representatives and Governors who come up for election but also the President.

In Parliamentary countries, such as Great Britain, a vote of confidence or lack of confidence can be indicated either by the defeat of government measures or by the by-elections; that is, the filling of seats in Parliament which for one reason or another have become vacant.

In the United States, there is no method by which a government falls because we do not elect a government in the Parliamentary sense; we elect a President and Vice President for stated terms—four year terms. Come what may, they remain in office.

In the present Congress, the Democrats have a majority which normally would mean that Congress would support the President's program for legislation. This has not proved to be so. So far as one can discern—without taking recourse to polls—President Kennedy remains a popular figure with the people. Nevertheless, the Democratic party is splitting up in an amazing manner.

In New York City, for instance, the Reformers, led by Governor Lehman and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, won a victory in the last Mayoralty election. They killed off the State Boss, Carmine De Sapio, but they managed to split the party. This has been aggravated by the search for a gubernatorial candidate. To discover the right man, the leadership forsook all political experience and knowledge and resorted to a pollster who came up with an obscure personality who had been in business with the pollster.

The result is that the Democratic split has widened. Secretly it was argued that because the President is a Roman Catholic and the Mayor is a Roman Catholic, the candidate for Governor should be a Jew. This is an insult to both the Roman Catholics and the Jews. Jews are sensitive about being catpaws for politicians. In recent years, two popular and respected Jews were nominated for Mayor of New York, Judge Jonah Goldstein and Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz. Both were defeated.

But when the pollster, Louis Harris, produced a poll indicating that the hardly known Robert Morgenthau could defeat Nelson Rockefeller for Governor, it made everyone laugh. It was so obviously wrong. Whereupon the split in the Democratic Party widened.

In Massachusetts, the struggle between Edward McCormack and Ted Kennedy has produced a bitterness which will reflect itself in Congress. The Speaker of the House should not have been made a personal antagonist.

In the so-called Solid South, the split is on an ideological basis, namely, the opposition to the Administration's attitude toward desegregation. The Solid South is Democratic because of the Civil War and the Ku Klux Klan during the Reconstruction. On other questions, the South is not so solid.

Now a Democratic Administration has smashed the solidity of the South. Texas has elected a Republican Senator. There is no telling what will happen in the 1962 Congressional Election, but whatever happens, the Democrats are antagonistic to this Administration.

It may be that the President is pursuing a policy of ignoring opposition when he is sure that he is in the right. That is a sound position to take in a second term; in a first term a President usually seeks to hold Congress with his party in the majority and to arrange to be re-elected. Surely if the President is concerned only with re-election, he would not have opened the way for Nelson Rockefeller's victory in the current gubernatorial election by permitting the leadership to support a totally unknown candidate, Robert Morgenthau, whose principal virtue is that he is the grandson of our former Ambassador to Turkey and whose father was made Secretary of the Treasury by Franklin D. Roosevelt—an inept appointment as it turned out to be. And the excuse for this appointment is that it is practical politics in 1962 to nominate a distinguished Jewish name. Do we vote for names or for Americans?

Somebody goofed. The split in the Democratic Party reminds one of the split of the Republican Party after 1932 which was never healed—not even during the Eisenhower Administration. (Copyright, 1962, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Cornea Transplant May Be

Way to Improved Sight

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Years ago, I had an eye infection that left me with a clouded cornea through which I have never been able to see except to recognize light and dark. I have been advised to have a corneal transplant to give me a "window" that will restore vision to my damaged eye. But I know enough about medicine to know that transplanted tissues do not live when they are taken from one person and placed in another. Why then should a corneal transplant survive? And should I have the operation?

A—Skillfully done, a corneal transplant does give every promise of success. And, while you are quite correct in your statement about the failure of transplanted tissues to thrive under usual conditions, your reasoning does not apply to the cornea for the good and simple reason that the cornea does not have blood vessels. It can accept a transplant that is expertly introduced.

Q—I am badly in need of a good hearing aid. I have deafness due to defective bone conduction and a salesman induced me to buy an aid that cost over $400 but that helps very little. He said that less expensive aids were of poor quality and I might as well get the best. Is there anything else I can do or must I resign myself to deafness?

A—My dear madam, you have made two great mistakes. One is to buy your hearing aid from a salesman who is obviously intent on selling you the product put out by his employers. The other is to permit yourself to be persuaded that the most expensive is necessarily the best. I'd suggest you make a fresh start by consulting an ear specialist (otologist) who will determine the type of deafness from which you suffer, refer you to a Hearing Aid Center where you can try aids of various manufacture, and then re-examine you when you have decided on the type of instrument you think is best suited. But do not resign yourself to your deafness on the basis of this single bad experience.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D., in care of this paper. He will answer letters of general interest in future columns, but cannot reply individually.

political potato to be handled in Congress prior to an election. Most of this interest is paid on home mortgages, and its exclusion, as a tax deduction would hit a broad segment of the electorate. If, at the same time, deductions for lobbying expenses by business concerns were allowed—as favored by the Senate—discontent would be widespread and vocal.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Evidence for two needed reforms has emerged from Senate stockpile investigations of the M. A. Hanna companies' nickel supply contract with the government.

One is that ethical standards for selection of a U. S. Secretary of the Treasury may be in need of change.

The other is that stockpile acquisitions might well be brought under the Renegotiation Act of 1951, as amended, so that any excess profits made by suppliers would be subject to recapture by the government. Contracts for raw materials are now specifically exempted from audit by this law.

THESE POINTS STOOD OUT after the examination by Sen. Stuart Symington's Armed Services subcommittee into former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's role in the nickel stockpile deal.

This contract was signed three days before Humphrey became secretary of the Treasury Jan. 21, 1953. Thereafter he officially tried to divorce himself from it.

When the question of nickel came up at meetings of the U. S. Defense Mobilization Board, he absented himself, turning his responsibility over to subordinates. One of these subordinates was Asst. Sec. H. Chapman Rose, a Hanna Co. counsel.

Humphrey did not conceal that while he was in government he retained his 3 per cent stockholdings — 10 per cent for his family — in Hanna companies. And he profited personally from the nickel stockpile deal by a minimum of $226,000, by his own figures.

THE QUESTION IS whether

by his mere presence in Washington, Humphrey may not have subtly influenced stockpile policy as a Hanna stockholder. No one has judged that.

But if the U. S. government is to be run on the "clean as a hound's tooth" basis which President Eisenhower called for, it has become apparent that some new formula must be found for fixing the qualifications of a treasury secretary, who is to be kept above suspicion for his own protection.

It will take a long investigation by experts to determine how much if any excess profit were made by the Hanna interests on the nickel stockpile contract. Accountants differ.

Walter W. Henson, one of the best U. S. General Accounting Office auditors, has given sworn testimony that the profits were 57 per cent on sales, 135 per cent on costs and 457 per cent on investment of company capital.

Humphrey, former Hanna president and board chairman, calls this "baloney" and "a lot of bunk." He says the gross nickel sales to the government were $57 million with $7.5 million profits, over seven years. This would be 13 per cent profit. He calls the nickel deal "a little matter" in comparison to all Hanna business.

Senator Symington, replying that "everyone would like to have a little matter of this kind," says the profits were from 135 to 173 per cent over a four year period, while other mining company profits ranged from 5 to 11 per cent.

Whatever the figures are, the U. S. government has no legal power to recapture excess profits in cases like this.

THE LITTLE-PUBLISHED U. S. Renegotiation Board was first set up by Congress in 1942 as a World War 2 agency. It was given authority to renegotiate defense contracts and subcontracts for government recapture of excessive war profits. In 20 years it has recovered over $1 billion for the government.

All stockpile contracts are exempted from this renegotiation process, however. For in the original 1942 act, continued in every renewal and amendment, contracts for the supply of any raw materials are exempted from renegotiation.

It would take long, legislative research to discover who put this raw materials exclusion in the original act, and who has seen to it that the exemption has been continued.

But it is obvious that congressmen from the states with large mining interests have seen to it that their constituents have been taken care of on this, as well as on maintaining the high depletion allowances which reduce taxes on mineral production in a way other taxpayers can't enjoy.

Action on Cuba and Berlin Urged to Bar Major War

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Vacillation, indecision, irresoluteness and a policy of wavering from day to day by the Western powers brought on World War I and also World War II.

History may be repeating itself. The West is again giving the impression of weakness. The United States, the most powerful military force in the West—without whose aid World War I and World War II could not have been won by the Allies—is wobbling in its policies. This could lead to a gross miscalculation by Nikita S. Khrushchev, just as indecisiveness on the part of Washington misled Kaiser Wilhelm in 1914 and Adolph Hitler in 1939 as each assumed that the U. S. would not go to war over any European question.

Today, the situation seems to be growing more serious, as it is being assumed in Moscow that the U. S. will not even go to war over an American question—the taking over of control in Cuba by the Soviets, who are supplying military equipment to the Cuban regime under an open agreement between the two governments.

This defiance of the Monroe Doctrine has been ignored by President Kennedy. He has made no public protest over Soviet policy. He has announced, in effect, that he agrees with the Soviet viewpoint that Cuba is a "defensive" operation with Soviet help.

Change Called Startling
This startling change in America's historic policy has apparently been accepted by supporters of the Administration in Congress, though here and there some exceptions are noted.

The President, in his public statements, shows that he considers the Cuban situation not to be an American question by itself, but as somehow directly related to the Berlin crisis. The Soviets may be interpreting this stand to mean that Mr. Kennedy is hesitant to do what he would perhaps like to do in Cuba for fear that the Soviets might intensify the East German problem and might be tempted to take chances on a belligerent move against West Berlin.

President Kennedy doubtless hoped to give an impression of resoluteness when he asked Congress for "stand-by authority" to call up 150,000 Reservists. The trouble with the move is that it implies vaguely that some time in the future he might use the troops somewhere — he doesn't say whether in Berlin or in Cuba. The Reservists aren't actually being ordered up now. Mr. Kennedy says he might call them up if matters get critical somewhere.

This ambiguity in American policy implies that the U. S. isn't really acting on principle, but is feeling its way expediently from one crisis to another while it waits for its adversary to continue step by step with its aggressive course.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, gives the reasoning back of the Administration viewpoint. In an interview quoted by the Associated Press, he says: "I think it should be clearly understood that the President has no immediate intention for use of his authority. Prompt Congressional approval will be a demonstration to our Allies and our enemies that the elected representatives of the people are firmly behind our commander-in-chief."

But will the man in the Kremlin take this to mean that Congress approves inaction in Cuba? If the United States will not fight on a clear issue that arises 90 miles away from its shores, will the passage of a resolution authorizing the call for Reservists produce the psychological effect which the Administration intends to create? The resolution itself makes no mention of Cuba, and in all probability the regular Marine Corps—not the 150,000 Reservists—would be used if there were any intervention in Cuba by the U. S.

Not a word has been spoken publicly to Moscow, moreover, about the violation of the Monroe Doctrine in shipping to Cuba arms and "technicians." Does this mean that the Administration acquiesces in the Soviet move and that all that's necessary now for the Communists to gain a foothold in a Latin-American country is to infiltrate a government there, call the military buildup "defensive," and the U. S. will not object?

Other Measures Urged
The same hesitation and vacillation that characterized American policy between 1914 and 1917 and between 1939 and 1941 are being repeated. The end result then was war, because America was believed to be unwilling or unable to fight. At least in those days, however—both with respect to protesting the violation of American rights on the high seas and in supplying destroyers to the British Navy—the U. S. wasn't entirely inactive or inarticulate, though at no time in the pre-war period was the German government convinced that the U. S. would fight.

Is entry into a world war the only way a nation's resoluteness can be expressed? There are many measures short of war—a sea and aerial blockade of Cuba and an economic boycott of East Germany and of the Communist bloc—whose could multiply Moscow's troubles and prevent a major war.

Work on Trade Bill Holds Key To Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee goes back to work on President Kennedy's trade expansion bill today with hopes for adjournment apparently hinging on how fast it can get the job done.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., told newsmen he would do his best to get the bill out of committee by Friday. He said he hopes to hold morning and afternoon sessions.

Senate supporters of the administration trade bill were hopeful they would be able to give Kennedy the broad new tariff-cutting powers and other authority he asked, as the House did earlier this year.

However, they anticipate heavy pressure for inclusion of restrictive amendments in the bill.

The Finance Committee began voting on the trade bill on Aug. 23 but laid it aside so that members could take part in the two-week floor debate on Kennedy's tax revision measure.

If the trade bill can be brought up for floor action next week, leaders in both branches said they would drive to wind up the 1962 session by Sept. 29.

The Senate passed by a 45-22 vote Monday another of the most items on President Kennedy's legislative list and sent it to him to sign into law. The bill authorizes the President to spend $900 million on short-range public works projects to combat unemployment.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Aerospace, aircraft and electronic issues were improving in a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

Activity picked up a little from the quiet opening and was running ahead of Monday's pace when the total was the lowest of the month.

The list opened mixed and showed little movement until about the time Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges reported new records for corporate profits and personal income. Then more key stocks.

Plus signs began to appear among Hodges' reported before-tax profits of corporations reached a peak annual rate of $50.9 billion in the June quarter and that individual income was up $1 billion in August from July, on a seasonally adjusted basis.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 223 with industrials off 1, rails unchanged and utilities up 2.

Steels, rails, metals and motors maintained a slightly lower tone. Chemicals were a bit higher. Utilities and oils were mixed.

Among the electronics RCA picked up about and Litton Industries was higher by a little more than that.

Texas Instruments, Transistor, Polaroid and IBM showed fractional gains. Some, including IBM, had been ahead considerably more in midmorning.

of testing on Aug. 5, although the AEC has indicated there may have been Soviet atmospheric tests before that date. The AEC has announced 10 Russian shots in the latest series.

The U.S. shots announced by the AEC included 26 in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific, mostly devices dropped from planes. On July 9 the United States successfully triggered a nuclear device 210 miles above the ocean. Three other high-altitude test shots from Johnston Island, including the July 25 effort, failed.

Peiping Continues Scolding Over U2

TOKYO (AP) — Red China scolded the United States loudly again today about the flight of the Chinese Nationalist U2 plane downed over the China mainland. But neither the Nationalists nor the U.S. government gave any indication they would halt Nationalist spy flights over Communist China.

Communist Chinese newspapers called the flight an intrusion and aggression. The downing of the craft over East China Sunday, they said, "should serve as a good lesson to the American aggressors."

In Washington, the State Department and the Chinese Nationalist Embassy declined comment. U2 flights over the Soviet Union were halted after pilot Francis Gary Powers was shot down in 1960, but there was no indication the high-altitude reconnaissance flights over Red China would be stopped.

It was learned in Washington that the State Department knew to what use Nationalist China would put the U2s it bought in the United States, and that intelligence information gathered by Nationalist pilots was supplied the United States.

Nationalist China still considers the mainland its territory and brushes aside accusations that its flights are intrusions. Other types of Nationalist planes drop leaflet and food on the mainland.

The United States conceded Sept. 4 that a U.S. U2 may have strayed over the southern tip of Soviet-held Sakhalin and that it was considering precautions to prevent a recurrence. Nothing was said to indicate that the United States was halting reconnaissance flights outside Soviet territory.

Peiping radio said an air force unit was decorated for shooting down the U2. It still gave no details on how the plane, which flies at 60,000 to 90,000 feet during reconnaissance, was downed. There was speculation the weapon may have been a Soviet-made ground-to-air missile.

Four Are Fined, Two, Adjourned In Court Today

Four persons were fined a total of $45 and two cases were adjourned this morning in City Court by Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. A charge against another man was withdrawn.

Kai A. Kosonen, 40, of Box 272, Stone Ridge was fined $10 for speeding. Alfred W. Stewart, 39, of Route 2, Box 857, New Paltz was fined $15 for the same violation and Winifred Soechting, 36, of 276 North Manor Avenue and Robert R. Robinson, 24, of Main Street, Port Ewen were each fined $10 for operating an unlicensed vehicle.

The cases against Kenneth White, 26, of 11 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion Park, and Frank C. Kallap, 77, of 59 Green Street were adjourned. White is charged with unlawful intrusion and Kallap is charged with driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident.

An assault third degree charge against Silas Whitaker, 20, of 147 Abel Street was withdrawn by the complainant.

Vols of Saugerties Respond to Grease Fire

Saugerties volunteer firemen responded Monday night to a grease fire at the home of Charles E. Fous, 40 Elm Street in that village. Saugerties Fire Chief Henry Amend reported.

A visitor, Edwards Jabs of Richmond Hill, L. I., was treated for smoke inhalation by Dr. Robert A. McCall, as a result of his efforts to extinguish the blaze, village police reported.

Acting Police Sgt. Donald Sullivan, a past Saugerties fire chief and member of C. A. Lynch Fire Company arrived at the scene before the firemen and extinguished the blaze with the department's extinguisher.

C. A. Lynch, Washington Hook and Ladder and R. A. Snyder Fire Companies responded. The alarm was sounded at 6:30 p. m.

Man, 80, With Wife, 62,
In Poor Financial Position

Q) "I am 80 and in poor health. We own a $16,000 house with a $3,400 mortgage. My income is only $90 a month, and we are literally eating up our savings. Should we sell our home and live off the proceeds or place another $10,000 mortgage on it at 6 per cent, using this money for eating expenses? I'm in a heck of a fix."

A) You are indeed, and I'm profoundly sorry for you and all others who find themselves in your predicament. There is, unfortunately, no pat answer to your very serious problem. A joint annuity—because of your wife's relatively young age—would not take care of you.

I think in your position I would sell my house outright for a lump sum. I suggest that you live on that and your other savings until the total has dropped to a level where you can apply for Old Age Assistance. That may hurt your pride, but know of no other solution.

Q) "In a recent column, you made a mistake regarding American Telephone convertible debentures. The conversion price is $47 1/2 per share, but the important point is that conversion is through tender of debentures plus a cash payment. Each $1,000 bond is convertible into 30 shares of common upon payment of $420 in cash. Actually, this means the bonds are selling virtually on conversion parity."

A) You are entirely right, and I apologize for a factual error which was due to unwarranted carelessness with a slide rule. American Telephone convertible 4 1/4's sell at around 309. Each $1,000 bond would cost $3,090, and $420 added to this figure would allow conversion into 30 shares at a total cost of $3,510. At recent market the 30 shares of Telephone were worth around $3,400, so that no large premium is attached to the conversion privilege.

I am very grateful to you for bringing this mistake to my attention.

Declare Mistrial In Fenton Case, Goes to November

On motion of Francis Martocci, counsel for Robert Joseph Fenton, a mistrial was declared today and the case was moved over to the November trial term. Fenton, charged with first degree burglary, first degree attempted rape and second degree assault alleged to have been committed January 16, last, at the Rosalind Woodin home in Woodstock, was continued under bail.

Selection of a jury was begun Monday. At the opening of court today Martocci moved for a mistrial on the grounds a second indictment pending against Fenton had been referred to in a published report of the trial and he held that it was prejudicial to the defendant's case, if jurors had read it.

Prior to recesses or adjournments, the Court instructs jurors not to discuss a case before them, read about it or listen to broadcasts and if anyone seeks to discuss the case, they are to inform such person they are a juror and if the person continues to discuss the case, the juror should report that fact to the Court.

It was ascertained that prospective jurors had read the comment and County Judge Raymond J. Mino granted the motion of Martocci for a mistrial and moved the case over to the November term.

Jurors were excused until 11 a. m. Wednesday.

Will Bar Muslim Prison Services Until Court Acts

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Black Muslim religious services will remain barred from the state prisons unless the courts decide that the sect is really a religion, the state says.

The state attorney general's office filed the statement Monday for a federal court hearing on a suit brought by five inmates of Attica State Prison. They charge their civil rights are being violated by the banning of Black Muslim services.

The Black Muslims are generally known as a negro supremacy group.

Paul D. McGinnis, state correction commissioner, said the contention of his department is that the sect is "a hate organization and not a bona fide religion."

The trial of this suit is scheduled to begin Oct. 2 in U.S. District Court here. McGinnis said there are in addition about 100 similar actions by Black Muslim inmates of Clinton, Sing Sing, Attica and Auburn state prisons pending in the state courts.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Widening popularity of stock ownership among Americans—either as individuals or collectively through mutual funds or pension funds—can in itself have been a factor in the sharp up and down in stock prices that this year have confused many of the new owners.

How big a factor was argued, with the help of slide rules, at one of the meetings here of the American Statistical Association. The large inflow of individual savings into the funds and then into the markets helped boost prices, some economists hold. And then this year switching of issues has added to the unsettlement.

Giving Market New Look
Statisticians say that the buying and selling policies of the mutual funds, and even more of the pension funds, are giving the market

a new look. Part of the funds' buying of stocks was compulsive, they hold, because the funds themselves were growing so fast and had to put money to work. Mutual fund managers stoutly rejected any implication that the operation of the funds hasn't been to the best interest of their shareholders, or that their stock market activities caused the price breaks in May and June or the dawdling of the market in recent days.

Contending that mutual fund purchases significantly affected price movements of individual stocks is Douglas Vickers, one of the University of Pennsylvania professors who worked on the controversial Wharton School survey of mutual fund performances for the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Even more influential is stock buying by the pension funds, says Vito Natrella, assistant director of the SEC division of trading and exchanges.

Contributes to Changes
Vickers says funds tend to buy on balance prior to upswings and to sell on balance prior to downswings. Since this is what investors in mutual fund shares expect from expert management, they can't quarrel with that.

But Vickers' contention is that such buying or selling seems to have contributed to the changes, whether up or down. So the growing holdings of common stocks by the funds in recent years has added another and important factor to the many that the individual investor must take into account when assessing his own portfolio.

Natrella says the pension funds are really the most influential institutional group in the stock market, since they have been growing spectacularly since 1950 and are putting more than half of their new receipts into common stocks. Such purchases increased a bit in the first half of this year despite the faltering of the market.

Business Activity In State Remains At Highest Level

ALBANY—Aided by better-than-seasonal manufacturing output, business activity in New York State during July maintained the high level achieved in June, the State Commerce Department reported today.

The seasonally adjusted Index of Business Activity, 149, (1947-49 equals 100) was six points higher than in July 1961.

Despite widespread vacation shutdowns, the factory output component of the index seasonally adjusted, rose two points from June to a record 147, up seven points from a year earlier. This performance, repeated in some other sectors of the economy, offset declines in construction and retail trade.

Although down seasonally, employment in the state during July was the highest on record for that month. An estimated 7,375,000 people were working, 45,000 less than in the previous month, but 60,000 more than in July 1961.

A drop in manufacturing employment was much less than usual for the time of year. Employment increased most in transportation and food products industries, declined most in apparel, printing, publishing and miscellaneous industries.

Unemployment rose seasonally in July, but was well below a year earlier. An estimated 465,000 people were out of work in the state, up 40,000 from June, but 90,000 fewer than in July 1961. The July total unemployment represented 5.9 per cent (unadjusted) of the civilian work force, compared with 7.1 per cent a year ago.

In all major areas of the state, unemployment in July was below the previous year's level. The Utica-Rome area (Oneida and Herkimer Counties), which had been classified for more than three years as an area of substantial unemployment, was removed from that category by the U. S. Department of Labor. Two small areas, Albion-Medina (Orleans County) and Catskill (Greene County) were newly classified as areas of substantial and persistent unemployment as a result of long-term difficulties.

First public night school for high school subjects opened in Cincinnati, Ohio, during 1856.

into stock more regularly than assets of the mutual funds, Natrella says. Since they often concentrate on the popular issues, their holdings tend to cut the floating supply of these stocks. The resultant thin market is credited with causing some of the wide swings in prices that have characterized the market in recent months.

Both Vickers and Natrella offered their findings as statistics and nothing more — no accusations, no recommendations.

But the validity of the findings may be disputed and any implications challenged by the funds' depositories for the savings of millions of Americans.

Auburn Trial Set For WW2 Veteran

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Leo J. Mieczko, a decorated World War II veteran charged with the murder of a policeman, will be tried in Auburn and not in his native Chautauque County, the State Appellate Division has ruled.

Mieczko's attorney had asked the department's fourth division to shift the scheduled first-degree murder trial from Mayville on the grounds that he would not get a fair trial in Chautauque County.

The Auburn trial was set Monday for Oct. 9.

Police said the 45-year-old Dunkirk bartender shot police Lt. Mark Elftman, who was called to quell a disturbance last year at Mieczko's home. Mieczko was wounded by another policeman's gunfire and briefly hospitalized.

Calls '38 Milk Order Obsolete, Favors New Start

NEW YORK (AP)—An attorney for a Pennsylvania dairy suggests that the New York-New Jersey milk marketing order be junked as obsolete and a new one drawn up.

Willis Daniels, attorney for Lehigh Valley, a Pennsylvania dairy cooperative that ships milk into Northern New Jersey under the order, made the suggestion at a U.S. Department of Agriculture public hearing Monday.

Daniels characterized the present order, written in 1938, as "designed for conditions far different from today's" and as being "patched up from time to time" and "complicated."

"Would it not be better to start over?" he asked.

Daniels directed the question to Dr. Anson Pollard, assistant federal milk marketing administrator for New York-New Jersey. The hearing, in its fifth day to date, recessed at that point.

Pollard denied earlier that the order worked a hardship on nearby milk dealers. He said 430 miles was the greatest distance milk was shipped to any market in the area.

The hearing is being held to study proposals for solving a milk price control problem in north-eastern markets.

The problem was created when the U.S. Supreme Court recently outlawed compensatory payments used to help maintain uniformity in pricing milk within a marketing area. The court said such payments were excessive and constituted restraint of trade.

Thurgood Marshall... A Dedicated Life

Senate Voting Today on JFK Appointee to Circuit Court

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents have appointed four Jews and six Catholics to the Supreme Court. But none has ever named a Negro to this highest tribunal. The closest to that for a Negro has been the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. One is there now, Judge William Hastie on the appellate bench in Philadelphia. Today another comes before the Senate for approval.

He is Thurgood Marshall, whom President Kennedy appointed over a year ago to the U.S. 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals, which serves New York, Connecticut and Vermont. Marshall has led a dedicated life.

Long, Historic Fight
Since the 1930s as chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—he has steered this nation's most famous racial desegregation cases to success in the Supreme Court.

It was a long, historic fight. It made possible the more direct action being taken today in the South by Negroes and whites in freedom rides, passive resistance and other forms of protest against racial segregation.

Almost certainly these protests would have been impossible without the work done by Marshall and the NAACP. Ironically, some anti-segregationists today seem to think the Marshall-NAACP tactics are too slow, too negative.

Kennedy named Marshall to the 2nd Circuit Court on Sept. 23, 1961. It was a cinch he would run into some bottlenecks, before he got approval, in a Senate where Southern Democrats hold powerful positions.

The Senate quit for 1961 without acting on the Marshall nomination. On Oct. 23, President Kennedy gave Marshall an interim appointment, which put him on the court until the Senate returned this year.

Prodded Into Action
From January until last week a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, prolonged consideration of Marshall until finally Kennedy and Northern liberals protested.

Last week the full committee, headed by Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, approved Marshall. The vote was 11 to 4. Four Southern Democrats voted against.

Then the nomination went to the full Senate for approval or disapproval and, no doubt, debate.

The fight Marshall made had its immediate roots in 1896 when the Supreme Court made racial segregation in the United States official with a decision which said it was all right to segregate Negroes in public places provided the treatment they got was equal to that given whites.

As history showed, the treatment Negroes got turned out to be anything but equal.

Case-by-Case Struggle
In a country which prides itself on equal justice under law, Negroes, in view of that 1896 court verdict, could take one of two courses: direct action—even though peaceful—in the form of demonstrations or passive resistance. Or, fighting in the courts in hope of overturning eventually the decision of 1896.

Marshall and the NAACP took the road through the courts, knowing it would be a long, case-by-case struggle, based on the idea of chipping away at the 1896 verdict by repeated victories in a later Supreme Court.

This was not a fantasy. If the Supreme Court in the end reversed the ruling of 1896 it would not be the first time in history that the court had done that to itself.

So Marshall began the journey through the courts, fighting segregation in the higher levels of education—and in other public places, like buses, housing, trains—and finally getting down to the primary schools.

Those who think a more direct course would have been the faster road seem to overlook a few realities. In the decade of the 1930s—when Marshall and the NAACP began their long fight—119 Negroes were lynched in this country. These figures are cited by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Besides, at a time when the 1896 decision still made segregation the general law, direct actionists would have been under a handicap. The American attitude toward segregation underwent a slow change.

Marshall's greatest victory came on May 17, 1954, when the court undid the work of 1896 and ruled out segregation in public schools. When the government backed up this ruling, resistance in the South began to crumble. It is not yet all gone—but it is mortally dented.

No Firm Leads on Girl's Sex Slayer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung today for Pamela Moss, a pretty, 14-year-old victim of a sex slayer. Police indicated, meanwhile, that they had turned up no substantial leads in the search for her killer.

The brown-haired schoolgirl was buried at Holy Sepulchre Roman Catholic Cemetery here after the funeral mass at St. Joseph's Church in nearby Penfield, where she lived.

Pamela was raped and murdered Thursday. Her body was found Saturday floating in a quarry pond about a mile from her home.

Police believe she may have been seized while walking along a woodland path near her home. However, Monroe County Dist. Atty. John Conway said Monday night that a man telephoned police and said his daughter had seen Pamela get into an automobile about the time of her disappearance.

Escape to Touch Off Full Probe Of Butler Prison

HARRISBURG (AP)—Officials of the State Corrections Bureau began making preparations today for a full scale investigation of security measures at the Butler County Prison.

The probe was ordered Monday by Bureau Commissioner Arthur T. Prasse in light of the escape last Friday of 19-year-old Donald Montgomery, a convicted killer from Brackenridge, Pa.

Police recaptured the youngster Saturday.

"Somebody must have been pretty lenient to let that man get out," Prasse commented. "That jail is adequate enough to hold anybody."

He added that the investigation, requested by Butler County Commissioner James A. Green, probably would get underway within a few days.

Meanwhile, Judge Clyde S. Shumaker of Butler County, has authorized a special 18-member grand jury to conduct its own investigation into the escape.

The investigation should be a local matter rather than a state matter, he said, adding that the jurors could question anyone they see fit.

Montgomery escaped from the jail Friday afternoon, scaling a 14-foot prison wall and fleeing to a nearby wooded area. He was recaptured 27 hours later on a tip from 11-year-old Jimmy McKain of Butler.

Silent on Shooting, He Faces Perjury

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A man wounded by gunfire on a city street last July was under a first-degree perjury indictment today for allegedly refusing to tell police who shot him.

Pasquale Politano, 42, of Buffalo was wounded four times July 23 while standing in front of his home. The Erie County grand jury, in an indictment handed up Monday, charged him with perjury himself while testifying last month after the shooting.

Pasquale Santangelo, 28, of Buffalo was indicted last month on a first-degree assault charge in the shooting. Santangelo is the brother of Vincent Santangelo, one of two victims last year of a gangland-style rope strangling.

Turbine Plant Idled By Strike of 320

WELLSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Worthington Corporation's steam turbine plant here was idled today after a strike by 320 production workers over seniority and job posting practices.

A spokesman for Local 1580 of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO) said Monday's walkout followed assignment of a former non-union member to a union job. The union said the action violated seniority and job posting agreements.

The company called the walkout illegal, saying the union had not followed proper procedure in calling the strike.

Apple Processor Denies Price Is Economic Insult

NEW YORK (AP)—An apple processor described as the largest in the state says the price it is offering producers for apples this year is 10 per cent higher than that negotiated last year.

A spokesman for Duffy-Mott Co. said in New York City Monday that the price was based on the grade and size of the apples.

The spokesman replied to charges by a State Farm Bureau bargaining group that the Duffy-Mott offer was an "economic insult."

Howard Baker of Ransomville, chairman of the apple-operations committee of the Bureau's Marketing Cooperative, advised apple-growers against selling their apples for the price offered by Duffy-Mott.

Duffy-Mott is the largest processor in the state, Baker said, and "by virtue of this, has traditionally been the price-setter."

Baker said the decision on whether or not to sell would be made by the individual farmer. No mass, coordinated withholding action was planned in an effort to win higher prices, he said.

The Duffy-Mott offer was not disclosed, and Baker did not say what he believed the price should be.

Farmers Welcome Counseling Help

ALBANY — The recently established service to advise farmers on how to protect their farms against nuclear attack has received a warm reception throughout the state, Lt. Gen. F. W. Farrell, State Civil Defense Directors announced today.

This new service was explained to farmers at Civil Defense exhibits displayed at about 40 county fairs throughout the State," he said, "and about 5,000 farmers have requested this free assistance in outlining protection programs for their families, livestock and land."

"Each farmer requesting assistance will be visited by a Civil Defense expert who will advise him on specific measures he can take to insure survival in event of a nuclear attack, as well as procedures for post-attack recovery."

"Our farm counseling experts will aid farmers in developing personalized well-rounded programs which will make maximum use of the farmer's existing resources," he said. "Farmers will be advised, for example, on how to position bales of hay in such a way that protective shielding against radioactive fallout will be provided for livestock in barns. The emphasis will be on developing a practical, economical program which will not place a heavy financial burden on farmers. Our experts will also advise farmers on such subjects as salvaging crops after a nuclear attack and soil decontamination procedures."

"New York is the only State which has developed a special counseling service for farmers. On the basis of initial reception accorded this three-month-old program, I am confident that thousands of farmers will take advantage of it."

Farmers may obtain detailed information on the counseling service from local Civil Defense directors or by writing the Civil Defense Commission, 162 Washington Avenue, Albany 10.

SENDING COOKIES TO A NEIGHBOR

Q: I baked some cookies recently and sent a batch of them over to a neighbor. I put them on a paper plate. My daughter remarked that this was not very polite and that I should have put them on a china plate. She holds that sending them over on a paper plate implied doubt on my part as to the neighbor's returning the plate. Will you please tell me if what I did was wrong?

A: Strictly speaking your daughter is right, but it is a matter of so little importance that you need not give it another thought. In fact, what you did was really more practical because a paper plate need not be returned whereas a china one must be both washed and returned.

Serving Tea

Q: When friends come in to see me in the afternoon I usually serve them tea. I would like to know if it is in good taste to prepare the tea in the cups using the little tea bags. I think it simplifies matters to be able to do this but I have been told that this is not the correct way to serve tea. May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: The sight of a used tea bag being lifted, limp and dripping, by its string out of a cup is very unattractive. Furthermore, I cannot see that it is any easier to drop the tea bags in the cups than it would be to put them where they belong, in a tea pot, and pouring boiling water on them, let them steep properly and then pour the tea.

When Her Parents Are Not at Home

Q: I would like to know if you think it proper for my boy friend and me to stay home alone watching television for several hours while my parents are out visiting friends. My mother does not object but my father does, strenuously, saying it does not look right and people will start gossiping.

A: Your father is right. Your being alone in the house with your boy friend for several hours is just the kind of food local gossips thrive on.

Shop for Apples by Variety

Shopping for apples is easy when you know one variety from another, says Louise M. Kakargo, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent. New Yorkers have about a dozen varieties available from which to choose during the fall harvest season. Knowing when to buy which variety can save you money as well as increase eating enjoyment.

Shoppers will find that different apple varieties come to market in a staggered fashion. Early ripening winter varieties, like McIntosh, are the first to arrive, followed by later ripening ones, such as Rome and Baldwins. With each new variety shoppers have an increasingly wide selection from which to choose and can better find the apple that best suits their intended purpose. Knowing when to expect the different varieties of apples to come to market can influence the homemaker's plan. For example, homemakers who want to make and freeze apple pies for later use and prefer Rhode Island Greening apples for pie can work on this project during September and early October. But those who prefer Northern Spy apples for pie will have to postpone the project until late October, when good supplies of this variety are at the markets. For especially fresh apples, you may wish to shop at roadside stands. Prices are sometimes better.

The apple season in New York is early this year, and the harvest of all varieties will occur about a week to 10 days ahead of usual. The first variety to be marketed in great quantity will be McIntosh, as typical.

Volume harvest will begin during the week of September 10 from Hudson Valley orchards. Apples differ in their character traits, so be a specialist when you shop for the fruit, and choose the varieties that will best meet your needs. For dessert, choose a firm, crisp textured apple with sweet flavor, as a Delicious, or mildly tart flavor, as a McIntosh. Apples for sauce and pie, such as Rhode Island Greening, have a somewhat tart flavor and cook tender in a short time. For baking, select a variety like Rome Beauty that will hold its shape well when cooked and not become mushy in texture. Or choose a general purpose variety like Cortland that will meet every need.

At the Markets

MEATS—The price of steer beef has gone up to the highest level in 4 years, and so shoppers can expect to find high prices on beef cuts in the coming weeks. Although a few beef items will be featured on special sales, expect the special prices to be higher than earlier. Broilers and turkeys continue the economical meat choices. Watch for specials on pork loins and butts, boneless veal roasts, and some lamb cuts.

VEGETABLES—Recent rains have helped local vegetable crops. Among the plentiful are snap and lima beans, beets, cabbage, celery, eggplant, yellow onions, potatoes and sweet potatoes. Good salad choices are endive, escarole, parsley, green onions, radishes, all types of peppers and tomatoes. All types of squash are in good supply—acorn, butternut, yellow straight-neck and green Italian type.

FRUITS—Thompson Seedless grapes, California nectarines and Bartlett pears, and watermelons continue top fruit choices. Melons are in good supply—cantaloupe, honeydew and casaba—as well as limes, prunes and Florida avocados.

Cottens Comment:

Pretty Brave With Eight Trunks for Opening of Play

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—“It’s a great name for a play, ‘A Calculated Risk,’ because they all are.”

The speaker was Joseph Cotten, who had just packed eight trunks and was heading for New York to star in the play with his wife, British actress Patricia Medina. It opens Oct. 31.

“I thought we were pretty brave taking eight trunks instead of an overnight bag,” Cotten said. “You never know what’s going to happen to a play. I don’t think anyone does.”

“Sometimes, there’s the smallest difference between a hit and a flop.”

“When we were trying ‘Philadelphia Story’ out of town, it just didn’t seem to work. Then John Van Druten came up from New York and suggested we move this scene here and that one there. The audience roared. You know how well it did on Broadway.”

“Then comes the time when you’ve made a hit with a play on Broadway and Hollywood decides to do the film version—with a different cast.”

“They used Katharine Hepburn in the movie version, too, but I remember when I arrived in Hollywood to do ‘Citizen Kane.’ Nobody knew me.”

“I was talking to someone about ‘Philadelphia Story’ and she asked me, ‘Oh, did you do the Cary Grant role or the Jimmy Stewart part?’ I told her, ‘Madam, I created the Cary Grant role.’”

Cotten and his striking brunette wife starred in another play earlier this year which never reached Broadway, “RX Murder.”

“The play did well on the road, but just didn’t seem to be strong enough to take to Broadway and meet the competition,” Cotten explained.

Do they suffer from opening night jitters?

“We both do,” Cotten admitted. Pat shivered agreement.

“An opening night audience is like no other,” Cotten remarked.

Recover Auto

Kingston police recovered a car Monday 12 hours and 10 minutes after it was reported stolen. Patrolman Joseph Kivian discovered the car parked at the corner of Union and Chambers Streets at 9:40 p. m.

Price Correction

The price of the fresh ground beef, veal, pork meat loaf mix advertised by the Gov. Clinton Market, 777 Broadway in last night’s paper should have been 59 cents per pound instead of 69 cents per pound.

'Key' to Problem

BARBERTOWN, Ohio (AP)—When the accelerator on Dean Blaser's car suddenly stuck and the car lurched forward, the 19-year-old driver decided to try to ride the vehicle down.

He pumped on the brake but the racing engine pulled the car on.

After swerving through Barbertown, the brakes finally burned out. At that point a passenger leaped from the car and the vehicle smashed into a tree.

Police pointed out that in his excitement Blaser overlooked a very simple solution to the dilemma: He could have simply turned off the ignition.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE BY OCCUPATION

WHO ARE THE UNEMPLOYED—About 4.5 million workers are currently unemployed in America. By occupation, unskilled laborers are by far the leaders in rate of unemployment. The figures in chart above are for the first quarter of 1962. Seasonal industries like construction and farming swell unemployment rolls during their slack periods, as do students seeking part-time summer work. Of the 4.5 million unemployed, 37 per cent had been out of work less than five weeks. Data from Better Living magazine and United States Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Class Scheduling Chore Seen Cut by Computer

ROCHESTER — An experimental project of the University of Rochester and three area school systems may result in drastically slashing the cost, time, and effort involved in the annual chore of making up class schedules for high school students. The project utilizes high speed data processing facilities of the University Computing Center to take over the massive job of class scheduling.

This is believed to be the first experiment in New York State in which advanced computer facilities are being used in high school scheduling operations. "Guinea pig" for the initial field test is Rochester's East High School, where individual schedules for the school's 2,800 pupils have just been completed, via computer, in 17 minutes—compared to the 480 man-hours usually required for a school of this size.

State Fruit Group To Meet Sept. 20

Members of the New York State Fruit Testing Association will meet at the Cornell's Experiment Station, Geneva, September 20 for their annual business meeting and fruit show. This marks the 44th anniversary of the organization.

It is the object of the association to propagate and distribute new varieties of fruits developed in the Experiment Station's extensive breeding program.

Each year a catalogue is prepared containing detailed information on the various fruits tested at the Experiment Station. Both the strong and the weak points of the variety, when tested on Geneva soil, are given. It is important, commented Henry O. Bennett, manager of the association, to realize that all varieties listed in the catalogue are not necessarily recommended for commercial use. "We are primarily trying to determine the merits of new fruits when grown under conditions more approximating what a commercial grower might have. Sometimes a variety that looks satisfactory in test plots does not do well when tried on a larger scale and in different environments," stated Bennett.

Copies of the 1962-63 Catalogue can be obtained by writing to association headquarters in Geneva.

This expression has an odd origin — it actually means falling into a pit. The saying started in England, where holes that deer dig at certain seasons of the year (about one foot deep) are called scrapes. Pedestrians who frequently fell into these pits were referred to as "getting into a scrape."

Marty Kaye, Pete Zeel Take Tennis Doubles Championship

Fowler-Baron Tandem Mixed Doubles Champs

Mrs. N. Jansen (Mary) Fowler and George Baron have repeated as Ulster County Mixed Doubles tennis champions with a straight-set victory over Mrs. Ernest L. (Clem) Shute and Dick Little, 6-2, 7-5, in the finals at Forsyth Park.

Mrs. Shute and Little advanced to the finals by defeating Kitty Fowler and Pete Roberts, while the defending champions eliminated Mrs. Ronnie (Vickie) Drowns and Marty Kaye.

With Baron and Little holding their services, it was quickly 1-1 and Mrs. Shute's service coming up in the first set. Mrs. Shute's service did not have enough power and the Fowler-Baron tandem concentrated on returning it deep to her backhand and driving the weak returns out of the reach of either Little or Mrs. Shute. Mrs. Fowler held her service after there were many deuce points. Little, meanwhile, was returning Mrs. Fowler's weak second serve deep to her backhand which she could not handle.

Take 3-1 Lead

After the fifth "ad point" Little overdrove a forehand drive and the Fowler-Baron team moved ahead 3-1. Little's service came in with considerable power and he won his serve with two aces. Baron held his serve after almost losing it, going from 40 love to "ad" out before drawing an error off Mrs. Shute's backhand. It was 4-2 at this point and obviously Mrs. Shute was getting a workout, since the attack was being concentrated on her.

Little missed a few critical shots at the net, shots that were not too difficult, but it appeared as if he was pressing too much and losing his control. Mrs. Fowler was steady in his set and, with Baron rushing on occasions to smash short lobs for the winners, the first set went to the defenders by a score of 6-2.

The losers didn't succumb too easily in the second set. Little's overheads found the range and he hit clean winners, occasionally poaching on Mrs. Shute's side to intercept the ball and slam it out of reach of his opponents. Mrs. Fowler and Baron were ahead 4-2, when both of them seemed to tighten up on their drives. Mrs. Fowler losing her service for the first time in the match and Mrs. Shute holding hers for the first time.

Baron Slam Ends It

With the score 4-4 in the second set, Little applied the pressure and won his serve. Mrs. Fowler worked hard to stave off the attack being concentrated on her. Baron won his game at love, serving two aces to tie the score at 5-5. Mrs. Shute seemed to be tiring at this point and missed two forehand shots on her own service to lose the game and permit the Fowler-Baron tandem to lead 6-5. Mrs. Fowler got her first serve into the court in this game and continued to hit the ball as hard as she had done in the first set, taking the lead at 40-15. The match ended when Baron slammed an overhead at Little's feet which the latter could not reach.

The match was characterized by cautious volleying and, when one of the players was out of often took advantage to make a winning passing shot. In the close second set, the Baron-Fowler duo was lucky in getting their shots to hit the tape and carom off at odd angles, giving them points that may have demoralized their hard fighting opponents. All in all, it was a perfect day for tennis and the spectators enjoyed the match enough to watch the Mixed Doubles continue as part of the annual Kingston Tennis Tournament.

Win, 6-1, 7-5, Over Bunk-Baron

Marty Kaye and Pete Zeel captured the Kingston Tennis doubles title with 6-1, 7-5, straight set wins over Don Bunk and George Baron. The winners were finalists in the singles play with Kaye stopping Zeel for that crown.

The champions rattled off four straight games in the first set and they were never headed. Zeel's service was outstanding and both he and Kaye used their overhead to good advantage. It was 5-0 before Bunk was able to win his service but Kaye closed out the match by winning his service.

Bunk and Baron had no alternative but to apply the pressure if they wanted to stay in the match. After many long rallies and deuce points, Baron held his service and it was 1-0 with Zeel's service coming up. Again Zeel's service was sharp and clean and weak returns were smashed by Kaye at the net or by Zeel when he rushed in behind his service.

Kaye and Zeel started to rush the net, striving hard to win the match as quickly as possible. Their tactics bore fruit because Bunk and Baron began to make errors and their early returns were converted into winning passing shots by the champs.

Kaye was playing a steady retrieving game and Zeel was hitting the ball with authority. They forged ahead to 5-2 and it looked like curtains for the losers.

However, Zeel lost his service and the lead was narrowed to 5-3.

Baron's service seemed endless because Kaye and Zeel had three match points in this game but Bunk saved the day by hitting winners at the net. Baron held his service, making it 5-4.

With the score knotted at 5-5, Bunk double-faulted twice and then the final serve by Zeel went to Bunk's backhand. He hit it into the net to end the match.

St. Louis Team Paces Doubles; Carter Hits 300

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Dennis Chapin and Ray Orf of St. Louis took a substantial lead into the final four rounds of the National Men's Doubles Bowling Championship today.

Chapin and Orf racked up a 13-3 won-lost record Monday night in four rounds of the eight-round final, logging a B.P.A.A. point total of 80-56. They had 6,756 points.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., and Detroit's Billy Golemiowski were in second place with a 10-6 record and 75-72 points.

Don Carter of St. Louis rolled a 300 game, the fourth in the four-day tournament and the fifth in his 20-year history. Bob Thiel of Gary, Ind., Ed Lubanski of Detroit and Larry Oakar of Cleveland turned the trick in the qualifying rounds.

Carter and Tom Hennessey of St. Louis were locked in a three-place tie with Bill Welu and Harry Smith of St. Louis and Glenn Allison and Dick Hoover, also of St. Louis.

Mantle Was Big Tonic for Yanks

Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — All the New York Yankees needed to get back in pennant stride was Mickey Mantle.

His knees and side ached—but he was Mickey the magnificent again Monday night.

Mantle returned to the lineup and revived the staggering, weary Yankees with an inspirational performance. The Yankees, in a rare display of emotion — for them — whooped it up in their clubhouse after eking out a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

It opened their American League lead to 3½ games over Minnesota, which lost.

Manager Ralph Houk puffed his cigar happily and smiled broadly, leaving the impression for visitors that the pennant race is nearing its end.

"Any ball club would be better with Mantle in the lineup," said Houk. "Not just ours. Sure, we're a lot better with him in there. But you don't win pennants on the play of just one man. The key to the race is what the other guys do."

But it was apparent the other Yankees play better with Mantle in there. They didn't seem like the club that played 500 ball during the six games Mantle missed since last Tuesday and lost a Sunday double header to eighth-place Boston.

National Bowling Stars

Pat Patterson, George Howard Roll at Bowlerama Saturday

Pat Patterson, one of the group of nationally famous St. Louis bowlers, and George Howard, crack Detroit star, are scheduled to appear at Ferraro's Bowlerama on Saturday afternoon and night.

A clinic is scheduled Saturday afternoon, with exhibition matches at night at 8:30. Details will be announced later.

The appearance of Patterson and Howard brings to Kingston two of the nation's top-ranking bowlers.

A former All-American selection and former member of the Budweiser Beers, Patterson helped the Buds establish a national high series of 3858, the highest series of all time in ABC sanctioned competition. He is now a member of the Carter Gloves, captained by Don Carter. The 37-year-old Patterson, whose square moniker is Claude Patterson, has 10 ABC-sanctioned 300 games and four ABC-sanctioned 800 series to his credit. He was captain of last year's ABC team champions.

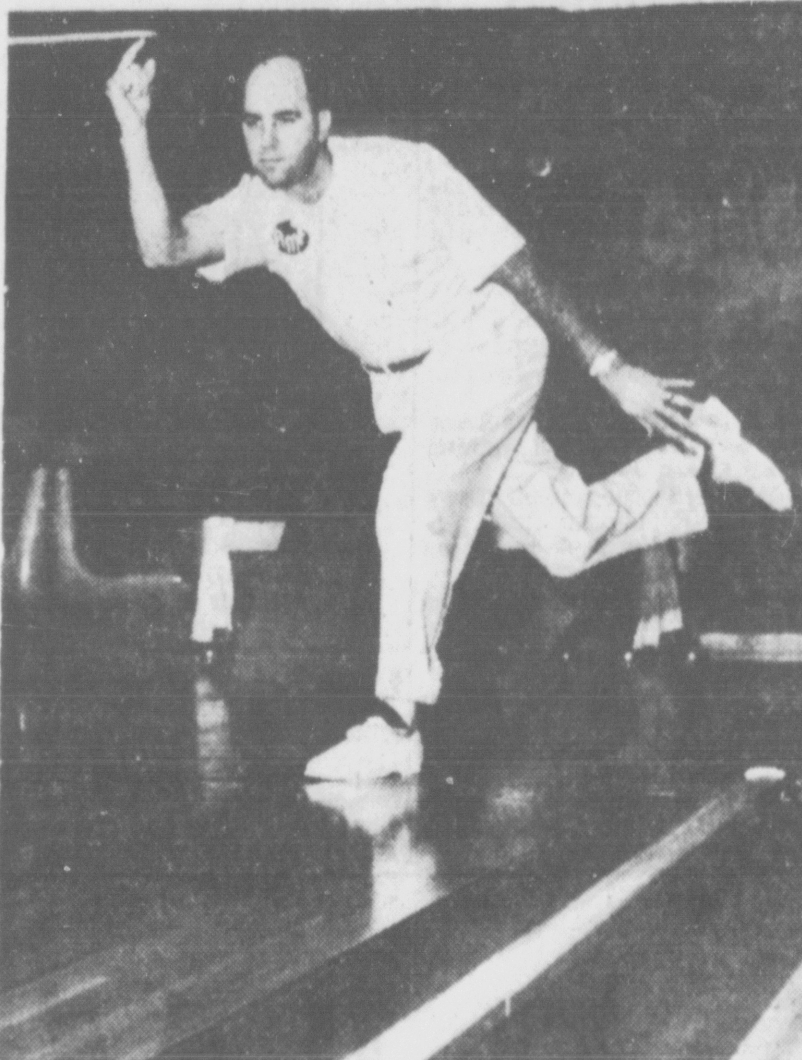

6 Team Champions

Patterson placed second on "Championship Bowling" to Bob Kwolek, winning $5,000 in 1962. He holds the all-time average in BPAA Match Game team play with 213 in 61 games.

He won the Bowlers Journal tournament at Seattle in 1954 and was a finalist in the World's Invitational Tournament in 1961. He has captained six BPAA team championship squads — 1955-57, 1959, 1960 and 1962.

Patterson has been bowling for 25 years and has this to say about his favorite sport: "I'd do almost anything to help bowling, for it's done a lot for me."

He uses a semi-finger grip and his ball is a semi-roll. In addition to exhibition work for AMF, Patterson has appeared on two AMF-produced bowling films—"Bowling Stars." John and Jack Ferraro of the Bowlerama extend an invitation to the public to attend the exhibitions.

New Bridge Club Set at Phoenixia

I. H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft, well known contract bridge director and pioneer of open duplicate bridge in Ulster County, has announced the formation of the Esopus Valley Bridge Club, the first officially sanctioned duplicate bridge club in this area.

The opening duplicate game will be held at the Phoenixia Hotel on Sept. 19 at 8 p. m. The initial session will be a full Master Point Game as authorized by the American Contract Bridge League and all subsequent games will be sanctioned by the ACBL. All games will start promptly at 8 p. m. every Wednesday at the Phoenixia Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheatcroft have become familiar figures in local bridge circles for the past seven years. Wheatcroft, who was born in Kentucky, was graduated from both The Mill Hill School and Cambridge in England. Mrs. Wheatcroft, who is known as "Chris" is London-born and ranked among the ten foremost tennis players in the world, playing against such giants as Helen Wills Moody and Suzanne Lenglen.

Started in 1955, Wheatcroft introduced a weekly open duplicate bridge game in Kingston on Friday evenings. After six months, this game was moved to the Leggett Estate in Stone Ridge and after seven years has enjoyed a faithful following.

About five years ago, he took over the Mid-Hudson Bridge Club in Poughkeepsie, directing games every Monday evening. Since then he organized a Tuesday game at the Jewish Community Center in Kingston. This game later moved to the Gov. Clinton Hotel and finally to the Stuyvesant Hotel, where it is still going strong.

The newly-formed Esopus Valley Bridge Club is happy to obtain Wheatcroft's services, as he is not only a qualified ACBL director but also a past president of the Hudson Valley Association and present tournament chairman and director of Ulster County.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Wheatcroft or Mrs. Malcolm Black, Box 221, Phoenixia.

Laver Watching Pro Net Offers

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—

Rod (Grand Slam) Laver of Australia sat back today and waited for the professional tennis offers to roll in while he decides what he's worth in dollars and cents.

"But," he said, "right now I'm interested in the Davis Cup and I definitely won't consider any professional contracts until the challenge round in December."

Laver became the second man to score the coveted grand slam—Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States championships—when he whipped his Aussie Davis Cup mate, Roy Emerson, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, under cheerless, gray skies at the West Side Tennis Club for the U.S. title Monday.

Only the great Don Budge had managed to pull off the coup, before Budge did it in 1938.

So, as has become the custom, an Australian won the U.S. title for the seventh straight year. Tony Trabert, in 1955, was the last American to win it. In fact, he was the last native-born finalist.

That was hardly unexpected. But now new troubles loom in the women's division. Margaret Smith, a tall, 20-year-old blonde from Melbourne, also took the women's crown Down Under when she defeated two-time defender Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., 9-7, 6-4 in the women's final.

It was the first time in the 82-year history of the event that an Australian girl has won the championship.

Koufax Return Is Seen Likely Within 10 Days

By CHARLES MAHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy

Koufax, the brilliant left-hander who was written off for the season only a week ago, may pitch for the Los Angeles Dodgers again in a week or 10 days.

"It's a definite possibility," Dr. Robert M. Woods told The Associated Press Monday.

Dr. Woods, the club physician, said Koufax now has normal circulation in the index finger of his pitching hand and "it's a question now of getting his arm and shoulder back in shape."

Koufax has pitched batting practice twice in the past week and has done some additional throwing in the bullpen. Manager Walter Alton has been encouraged enough to start figuring just where he would use Koufax in his pitching rotation during the last half of September.

"We'll pitch him as soon as he's ready," Alton said. "In another week or 10 days it might be all right for him to go in there and give it a try."

Koufax hasn't pitched in a game since July 17. He was suffering then from blockage of the blood circulation in his left forearm, and this condition was later complicated by a blood blister on the tip of the finger. Now the blister is gone and Dr. Woods says circulation "is within the normal range."

Little Chipper and Herve Filion made the big splash on Monday night on muddy harness tracks in New York State.

Making it look easy on a drenched track, Little Chipper splashed to an easy 6½-lengths victory in the $2,620 Scotta Trot for northern-trained 2-year-olds at Saratoga.

Filion's face was splattered with mud by evening's end at Vernon, as he drove home three winners, including Scotch Red in the featured $900 Class C-1 Pace.

Little Chipper, driven by Fred LaRouch, covered the mile in 2:18 in the non-betting event. The wire-to-wire win marked the brown filly's fifth win in 15 starts this year.

Scotch Red returned $6.80 and was timed in 2:06 3-5. Filion's other winners were Pat Teer in the fifth race and Russ Crane in the sixth.

Harness action at other tracks Monday night: Roosevelt — Sampson's Lady ($17.80) won the Long Island Association Pace with a 2:03 3-5. Billy Houghton was in the sulky.

Batavia — Moral Gale ($9.60) covered a sloppy track in 2:10 1-5 to win a $2,100 Class B-1, A, handicap pace.

Tournament director Wheatcroft points with pride to the fact that all defending champions are from within the Hudson Valley group.

The defending champions are: Individual, Lewis Armster, Pleasant Valley; Mixed Pairs, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck, Woodland; Open Pairs, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawton, New Rochelle; Team-of-Four, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft, Harry Thayer and C. Paul Jensen, Kingston; Women's Pairs, Mrs. Walter Lawton and Elsie Karplus, New Rochelle; Men's Pairs, Myron Fleishman and George Schoenbrun, Poughkeepsie; Amateur Pairs, Eleanor Triller and Elizabeth Boedecker, Poughkeepsie.

Both permanent and carry-over trophies will be awarded to winners in all major events. Permanent trophies will be awarded for the Hudson Valley Pairs. The American Contract Bridge League will award master points in accordance with the standard schedule for sectional tournaments.

Mantle Hits 400th Home Run

More room at the top for the New York Yankees after No. 400 by Mickey Mantle, a hit when it counted most by slumping Hector Lopez, and a masterful performance by a young pitcher for a rival contender.

Mantle, back in action in the American League battle following a six-game layoff with an injured side, belted the 400th home run of his 12-year career Monday night to pull the Yankees even in their close one with the Detroit Tigers and Lopez drove across the winner with the first hit in his last 23 at bats, a ninth-inning single. End result: a 3-1 New York victory.

An infield single kept Dean Chance from registering a no-hitter for the third-place Los Angeles Angels over Minnesota's runnerup Twins. The 21-year-old right-hander turned the Twins away without a hit until there was one out in the eighth inning. Then Zoilo Versalles, lashed a hard one up the middle which Jim Fregosi raced over to spear, but his throw to first was late and wild, permitting Versalles to reach second.

It went as an unquestioned hit, the only one Minnesota got. End result: a 5-0 Los Angeles victory.

Also in the American League, Baltimore nipped Boston 2-1 on Dick Williams' 12th-inning pinch hit and Chicago edged Kansas City 4-3. Cleveland and Washington were not scheduled.

Wilson Losses

Williams' pinch single pinned a tough loss on Boston's Earl Wilson, who gave the Orioles only five hits before being nailed in the 12th. Dave Nicholson led off the winning rally with a single, Hobie Landrith walked and Mickey McGuire was safe on a fielder's choice, loading the bases and setting the stage for Williams' clincher.

Ray Herbert, veteran right-hander nearing the end of his finest season in the majors, won his 16th in the White Sox' narrow decision over the Athletics. Herbert was touched for 10 hits and had a rocky seventh inning, when the A's got all their runs, but went all the way.

Wills Has Good Shot At Record

From among an exclusive circle of four players—Tommy Davis, Maury Wills, Willie Mays and Frank Robinson—likely will emerge the locksmith with the key to the National League throne room.

Each of the quartet, making a strong bid for Most Valuable Player honors, put on outstanding performances Monday as Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cincinnati all won and remained 1-2-3 in that tight struggle for NL supremacy.

Davis, a grand slam homer and wound up with five runs batted in as the first-place Dodgers walloped the Chicago Cubs 8-1, maintaining a half-game in front of second-place San Francisco and 5½ ahead of third-place Cincinnati.

Wills continued his assault on Ty Cobb's stolen base record. The swift Dodger shortstop pilfered three, running his total to 89—only seven short of the record established by the Detroit Hall of Famer in 1915.

Mays, the majors' home run leader, hit No. 43 in the first inning as the Giants got off to a quick start against Pittsburgh and held it all the way behind Billy O'Dell's five-hit pitching for a 4-1 triumph.

Robinson Hits Pair

Robinson, last year's MVP, provided the defending champion Reds with a 4-3 decision over St. Louis by tagging his second homer of the game and 36th of the season in the 11th inning while raising his batting average to a league-leading .341.

In the NL's only other game, home runs by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron powered Milwaukee to a 5-2 decision over the New York Mets. Houston and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Davis, who went 1-for-3 and dropped into second place in the batting race with a .339 mark, provided the Dodgers with the big blow—a bases full homer in the third inning off Cubs' starter Dick Ellsworth (8-18) that built their edge to 5-0. Don Drysdale (24-7) allowed only three hits until Manager Walt Alston decided to give him a rest after eight innings and brought in Jack Smith to finish up. Davis' RBI splash gave him a 137 total, 11 more than runner-up Robinson. Mays has 123.

Wills made it 13 stolen bases in the last five games with his three steals against the Cubs. He has 17 games in which to tie or surpass Cobb, who stole 96 on a 156-game schedule. The Dodgers have played 145 games.

Mays connected off Harvey Haddix (9-6) with Felipe Alou aboard in the first inning and that was all O'Dell (17-12) needed as he went the route for the 18th time.

Robinson drove in three of the four Reds' runs, starting his heroics with a second-inning homer, then sending Vada Pinson home with a single in the fourth before providing the game-winner in the 11th with a homer off Cardinal starter Ernie Broglio (11-8). The Cards had tied it in the eighth on Gene Oliver's homer off Joe Nuxhall.

Mathews broke a 2-2 tie with a one-out homer in the seventh and Aaron followed with his 39th for the Braves. The two homers made it 183 against the Mets this season, tying the NL record set by St. Louis in 1965.

Chance Misses No-Hitter by Infield Single

By LEW FERGUSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Dean Chance, baby-faced Los Angeles right-hander who at 21 has blossomed into one of the American League's premier pitchers, wasn't crying over his near miss of a no-hitter Monday night.

"I'm just glad we won," he said. "These games are all so important now."

Acknowledging he had pitched one of his finest games to the day of his debut in the majors, Chance credited a sharp curve, good fast ball, and pinpoint control for his performance.

He blamed a high fast ball for the only hit the Minnesota Twins collected as Chance whitewashed them 5-0.

But he gave full credit on the hit by Zoilo Versalles with one out in the eighth inning that ruined his bid.

"It was a hit all the way," the tall, slender hurler said. "If they had called it an error it would have been a cheap no-hitter. Jim (Fregosi) made a hell of a play on it."

Versalles slapped a hard grounder to the second base hole. Fregosi broke to his left and barely speared the ball before it went into center field. He whirled and threw late and wild to first. Versalles was already across the bag and wound up on second—the only Minnesota base runner to get that far.

Consider Closing Two Trooper Substations

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Division of State Police is considering closing two substations in Genesee County and transferring their operations to Troop A headquarters at Batavia.

A State Police spokesman said Monday the study involved Troop

A substations at Bergen and Alexander, Bergen is about 15 miles northeast of Batavia, and Alexander eight miles south.

He said the main reason for closing the substations would be the fact that they are not manned 24 hours a day. The Batavia headquarters is open around the clock.

No reduction in the strength of the troop will result from the closings, the spokesman said.

Rocky, Javits Sounding Battle Cry for Campaign

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits sound the battle cry today for campaigns by 208 Republican candidates for election or reelection to the Legislature.

The candidates gathered here for a session billed officially as the kick-off for the 1962 legislative campaign.

Rockefeller and Javits, who will head the state GOP ticket this year, were principal speakers on the program for a luncheon open to the press and a subsequent, closed-door meeting on campaign techniques.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini called the meeting. Their assignments included a post-meeting news conference to report developments.

Prospects were that little but generalities would stem from the meeting.

Candidates for the Legislature tailor their campaigns to their home districts and local factors.

There are few specific problems that all GOP legislators have in common or matters on which there is unanimity of opinion.

Republican lawmakers from New York City generally support state-aided housing programs, for example, while those from upstate areas frequently are opposed to such activity.

Legislators from New York City are under greater pressures to embrace the liberal side because of the ordinarily strong Democratic complexion of that city.

Upstate Republican lawmakers tend to reflect a conservative viewpoint.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A total of $13,975 was spent through Sept. 7 to promote Robert M. Morgenthau as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination his backers report.

Gov. Rockefeller, assured of re-nomination by the Republican Party, reported spending $270.81 on his pre-convention campaign activities up to the same date.

Both parties will hold their state nominating conventions next week.

Filed With State

The reports by Morgenthau supporters and Rockefeller were among several filed Monday with the Secretary of State. State law requires candidates to make a financial accounting of their campaign activities both before and after the conventions.

Friends for Morgenthau, a committee which has headquarters in New York City, reported it had received contributions of $18,620. They included $5,000 from Henry Morgenthau Jr., former secretary of the treasury and the candidate's father, and $1,500 from Henry Morgenthau III of Cambridge, Mass., the candidate's brother.

Expenditures in Morgenthau's behalf included $5,000 to Public Affairs Projects Inc. of New York City and $5,750 to the William Morris Agency, also of New York City.

$2,144 for Stratton

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who also is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said he had received since Jan. 1 contributions totaling $2,144 and had spent the same amount.

No reports had been filed on the contributions and expenditures in behalf of Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor of Queens and Howard Samuels, a Canandaigua business executive. Both are vying with Morgenthau and Stratton for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Surplus Buying Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government purchases of surplus dairy products are running nearly 40 per cent ahead of a year ago.

A U.S. Agriculture Department report today put total purchases between April 1 and Sept. 1 at about 996 million pounds compared with 722 million in the same period a year ago.

The increase in buying, made under a dairy price support program, largely reflects a higher level of milk production this year unmatched by an increasing in consumption.

The department reported it held an unusually large quantity of 354 million pounds of surplus butter on Aug. 31, compared with 141 million pounds a year earlier. Government stocks of dry milk totaled 548 million pounds compared with 218 million pounds a year earlier.

Find Mates Dead, Double Suicide Is Police Belief

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—

A husband and wife were found dead in their home Monday night in what appeared to be a double-suicide, police reported.

The bodies of Alan and Ethel Skiff of Gloversville, were discovered sitting on a small davenport in a patio adjacent to a garage in their home.

Both victims were in their fifties, police said.

Fulton County Coroner John Fernandes has ruled the deaths were caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Police said the doors and windows of the room in which they were found were sealed with scatter rugs. The door leading to the garage was open and the motor of a car parked in the garage had stalled.

Cornell Runner, Small Boy Bitten By Dogs Monday

A Cornell University junior and a five-year-old boy were reported to have been bitten by dogs Monday in this city.

James Sims, 20, of 72 Pine Grove Avenue told police that he was bitten by a small black, white and brown collie on Mary's Avenue between Hoffman and O'Reilly streets and that the dog ran away before he could be checked for a rabies tag.

Sims was treated at Benedictine Hospital and told that unless the dog is found he may have to undergo a series of rabies shots.

Police are presently checking all persons in that vicinity reported to own dogs fitting the description.

Christian Science

Theme Is: 'Substance'

The spiritual foundation of true peace and brotherhood will be set forth at Christian Science church services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance." Services at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Woodstock Sunday begin at 11 a. m.

Featured in the Bible selections are a number of passages from the Book of James, including these: "Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works and meekness of wisdom. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace."

The following will be read from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 467): "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

Named to Head Regional Birth Defects Center

ALBANY — Dr. William A.

Petersen, 31, has been named Director of the new regional March of Dimes Birth Defects Treatment Center at Albany Medical Center Hospital, it was announced here today.

A staff of four and a large number of consultants will work with Dr. Petersen in the Birth Defects Center, which is designed to provide diagnosis, evaluation and treatment to congenitally malformed children from 29 counties in eastern New York and western New England. The center is financed by March of Dimes Funds contributed by National Foundation chapters in these counties.

Albany College Alumnus

Dr. Petersen, a native of Kingston, is an alumnus of the Albany College of Pharmacy (B.S., 1952) and Albany Medical College (M.D., 1956). After completing his internship at Albany Medical Center Hospital, he served three years as a pediatric ward officer in the U. S. Army Medical Corps. For the past two years, he has been a member of the resident staff in pediatrics at Albany Medical Center Hospital, where he also served as assistant director of the Poison Control Center.

DR. WILLIAM A. PETERSEN

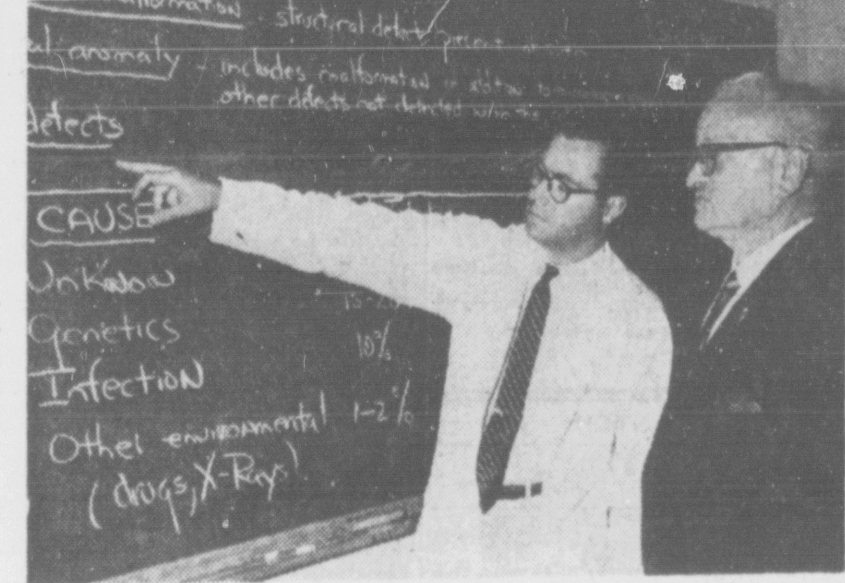

He completed his residency training in July of this year. He is a member of the hospital's attending staff in pediatrics and is an instructor in pediatrics at Albany Medical College.

In addition to the full-time services of Dr. Petersen as director, the center will have a full-time medical social worker, Mrs. Hedi Freund of Singersland. The part-time staff will consist of a child psychologist, Dr. N. Dale Bryant of Rensselaer, a pediatric neurologist, Dr. Robert Cassidy of Schenectady, and a secretary.

A son of Mrs. William H. Petersen of 105 Clinton Avenue, this city, he is married to the former Carol Millard of Troy and they have two sons. He is a Kingston High School graduate.

To Serve 29 Counties

The center, established this week, will serve patients in 29 counties of eastern New York and western New England and is supported by the National Foundation.

ATTEND ALBANY MEETING—Two Kingston men attended the dedication ceremonies of the new regional March of Dimes Birth Defects Treatment Center at Albany Medical Center Hospital Saturday. The center was dedicated to Thomas J. McEnaney and the Albany County Chapter of the National Foundation. Dr. William A. Petersen, left, a native of Kingston was named director of the new center. the financial assistance of its chapters in the counties served by the center, has granted $45,805 to the hospital to cover the cost of operating the Birth Defects Center over the next year.

The Ulster County unit of the March of Dimes gave $1,000 toward support of the center.

The Birth Defects Center will offer diagnosis, evaluation and treatment of children under 19 years of age who have congenital malformations or defects. Both in-patient and out-patient services will be provided, with an outpatient clinic scheduled weekly. Guidance for parents of congenitally malformed children will also be available.

Has Established 23

The Birth Defects Center is the only one of its kind in this sector of the State. The March of Dimes has now established a total of 23 such centers at teaching hospitals throughout the nation.

At Saturday's meeting, Dr. Petersen described the enormous problem presented by birth defects. He estimated that about seven per cent of all children are born with severe or significant congenital abnormalities. He noted that during the decade 1950-1960, the number of congenitally malformed children receiving benefits under Federal-State Crippled Children's Programs rose by 125 per cent.

Dr. Petersen attributed a large part of this increase to new advances in drugs and surgery, which permit an increasing number of children with birth defects to survive, although many of them will require specialized medical care of the kind that will be available at the Birth Defects Center.

"We at Albany Medical Center welcome the opportunity given us by the National Foundation to offer help to these unfortunate children," Dr. Petersen said.

Stresses Medical Problem

Dr. Paul Patterson, chairman of the department of pediatrics at Albany Medical Center, also spoke at the meeting. He said that "birth defects emerge as the most important childhood medical problem of our day."

Alford Clements, regional field representative of the National Foundation, said that $34,000 of the funds provided by the Foundation will go for salaries of personnel on the staff of the center. The remainder will be spent for patient services and equipment, he stated. He thanked area March of Dimes Chapters for their support of the center.

The center will accept only

Return Is Sought Of Physician In Abortion Death

PERPIGNAN, France (AP)—A New York law official went to France today to seek the return of Dr. Harvey Lothringer, a New York physician, sought in the abortion death of a 19-year-old college girl.

Lothringer, 41, and his attractive secretary, Theresa Carillo, 24, were arrested Sunday in Andorra, a tiny state in the Pyrenees on the French-Spanish border. They were jailed in Perpignan, 65 miles to the east in France.

Europe-Wide Alert

Queens County Asst. Dist. Atty. Philip Chetta flew from New York Monday night and said he would try to get Lothringer and Miss Carillo to return voluntarily. French police said the arrests followed a Europe-wide alert from Interpol, the international police organization. The couple disappeared three months ago, a few days before parts of the dismembered body of Barbara Lofrumento and the remains of an unborn baby were found in the sewer of Lothringer's $75,000 office-home in Queens.

Lothringer, described by U.S. authorities as a member of a New York abortion ring, was held on a warrant charging him with a 1961 abortion prior to Miss Lofrumento's death.

No charges were filed against Miss Carillo, a former airline hostess described by authorities as the doctor's girl friend.

Two Disappear

U.S. authorities said Miss Lofrumento was taken to Lothringer by her parents, who paid $500 in advance for the abortion. When the parents later sought the girl, she and the doctor had disappeared.

Miss Lofrumento, a sophomore at the College of New Rochelle, a Roman Catholic girls school near New York City, was the daughter of a Manhattan drug store owner. The family lived in The Bronx.
